CAPITAL DECENTRALIZATION SOUGHT

It Is 'Solemn Fact': Reds Have A Number Of A-Bombs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Sen. McMahon, (D) Conn., chairman of the Congressional Atomic Committee, said today that "it is a solemn fact" that Russia has a number of atomic bombs.

McMahon made the statement in supporting President Truman's request to Congress for $139.8 million to disperse government activities and make Washington a poor A-bomb target.

The senator declared: "It is the headquarters of the FBI, the military department, intelligence or civil defense were destroyed—or even immobilized for 24 hours—our war effort might suffer a grave setback."

McMahon said the President's request "is absolutely necessary," and added:

"As long as Russia possesses atomic bombs, our vital government agencies should not be bunched together in downtown Washington."

"IT IS A SOLEMN fact that Soviet Russia today possesses some atomic bombs."

President Truman asked the funds to finance a long-range plan to move 35,000 to 40,000 federal workers in key agencies far enough from the capital to be safe in the event of sudden A-bomb attack.

The new federal offices, including emergency space for both the House and the Senate, would be placed in four under-termined sites in Maryland and Virginia, presumably more than 12 miles and less than 50 miles from Washington.

The White House announcement of the dispersal plan said that all of the new sites would be close enough to the capital to enable federal workers to commute to work.

Included in the funds requested is money to improve present highway and communications facilities to the new federal offices.

A secondary effect of the plan would be the unintentional beautification of Washington. The new installations would replace in most instances the unsightly temporary structures now cluttering up the Mall—between the Lincoln Memorial and the Capitol—and other park areas.

THE WHITE HOUSE did not designate the agencies to be moved, but it was certain that they would be the key operating sections of the government, including, in addition to Congress, the Defense and State Departments. Presumably the plans include provision for an emergency White House.

Quick consideration of the decentralization plan is expected, as it is to be coupled with the deficiency appropriations bill scheduled by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Waning Hurricane Twists Slowly Into Alabama

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 31—The waning tropical hurricane moved into North Alabama today with 50 mile-an-hour winds and gale-rains knocking out communication lines and electric power facilities.

Service on at least one railroad was disrupted because of storm damage and attendant high tides.

No complete estimate of storm damage in the area has been attempted.

Signs were blown down and trees uprooted in the Birmingham area, and the Jefferson-Hillman hospital was the scene of a baby-delivery during the darkness caused by power failure.

Birmingham weathermen said the winds will average about 40 miles an hour today inland with gusts up to 50 mph.

In Apalachicola, a side-order tornado twisted through the coastal town leaving 12 leveled homes and two injured persons in its wake. Damage there was estimated at $50,000.

The center of what is left of the hurricane was located in north-central Alabama and Mississippi.

Southwest storm warnings still fly east of Mobile to Panama City, Fla.

RED TO GET TASTE OF OWN MEDICINE

Malik Bowing Out As Council Chief, But Readies Anti-U.S. Swan Song

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 31—Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik bows out today as president of the UN Security Council after 31 days of anti-U. S. propaganda and parliamentary maneuvers which stymied efforts to condemn the North Korean Communists for their attack on South Korea.

The burly Russian will surrender the gavel to Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb at midnight in accordance with the monthly system of rotating chairmanships.

Malik is in for a dose of his own medicine. Jebb has promised to restore order in the council and put the Soviet representative in his place.

As a parting gesture—and in awareness of Jebb's intention to put the council back on its feet—Malik has padded this afternoon's council agenda with inflammatory propaganda items frankly aimed at smearing the United States before the world as a violator of peace and an aggressor.

In addition to the question of Formosa, which Malik brought before the council at the request of the Chinese Communists, the Russian also has introduced the Peiping charges of alleged violations of Chinese territory by the U. S. Airforce, and alleged terrorism in Greece.

THE PROVISIONAL agenda which Malik has submitted as his swan song reads as follows: "1. Complaint of armed invasion of Formosa.

"2. Statement of the central people's government of the Republic of China concerning the invasion of the frontiers of China by U. S. Airforces and the bombing and shooting up by these forces of buildings, railway stations, rolling stock, people and airdromes.

"3. The unceasing terrorism and mass executions in Greece." Malik is expected to use the presidency this afternoon for a last attack on the U. S. and other Western Powers, including Greece. He already has circulated a batch of petitions allegedly from the families and friends of Greek political prisoners, calling on Premier Stalin to help save the lives of the condemned men.

There is no question either that Malik will show up for tomorrow's meeting under Jebb's presidency.

The Russian gave strong indications Tuesday that he intends to stick it out by serving notice that he will raise again in the future the question of inviting Communist China to Security Council meetings on Formosa.

Jebb, as his first act in bringing the council back to order, probably will seat the South Korean representative, Dr. John M. Chang, whom Malik has kept off the council for the entire month he presided. The Russian is in for a quick beating now if he attempts to block Chang's seating through a parliamentary challenge.

Once the council gets back to work, the question of Korea will be taken up where the council left off before Malik took over and paralyzed the body through his obstructionist maneuvers.

It is a foregone conclusion that Russia will veto any attempt to brand the North Korean aggressors as such and that he will attempt to harass the council in its handling of the Korean war.

Communists Near Pohang Pushed Back

3-Mile Gain Made In Counter-Blow

TOKYO, Sept. 1—(Friday)—Communist forces were smashed back nearly three miles on the Pohang front Thursday by a combined American-South Korean counter-attack spearheaded by mighty Pershing tanks.

The rout of the Red troops became a near massacre as U. S. Marine Corsair fighter planes caught the fleeing invaders in a bowl-like valley and killed an estimated 250 when they sought cover in a cemetery.

The Communist defeat may have ended the threat to Pohang and its important airfield six miles to the southeast.

The terrific counter-blow, launched when American troops joined the South Koreans, wiped out a V-shaped salient pointed directly at Pohang.

It enabled the United Nations defenders to straighten their line from a point just below Kigye due east to the sea. Kigye is eight miles northwest of Pohang.

The big American tanks, equipped with 90 milli meter guns, led the Americans and South Koreans and sent the Red invaders stumbling from choice ground positions just north of Pohang.

THE COUNTER-attack kept rolling as the Red troops fled into the valley trap where the Marine fighter planes struck them with fire bombs.

A dispatch from Eighth Army headquarters placed the gain of the hard-hitting United Nations forces at 5,000 yards.

Some enemy soldiers were captured, the dispatch said, along with boxes of Russian-made communications equipment still stenciled with Russian labels showing it was packed in August, 1948.

The Reds were thrown back after two desperate twin drives they had mounted against Pohang were halted.

The North Koreans clambered over bodies of many hundreds of their own dead in their unsuccessful attempt to storm into the port city.

They gained more than a mile before they were stopped.

The road junction to Kigye remained in enemy hands Thursday night.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's 1 a. m. Friday communique dealt with action prior to the rout of the enemy above Pohang.

He told of a withdrawal by the Reds approximately 1,500 yards north and east of the city. This apparently was in the opening phase of the counter-attack.

Nearly seven miles northwest of Kigye, other Red forces gained.

County's Real Estate Value Is Up By $180,780

Pickaway County real estate valuation this year has been increased $180,780 over 1949.

The increase brings the total valuation to $33,730,280, according to figures released by the county Board of Revision, composed of Fred L. Tipton, county auditor; R. G. Colville, county treasurer; and John B. Keller, chairman of the board of county commissioners.

The Board of Revision recently completed work of revising the real estate tax valuations for 1950.

The board said the increase is due "primarily to new construction of buildings completed since the general reappraisal of real estate last year."

The increase in Circleville amounts to $117,110.

The valuation does not include public utility property, which is revised by the State Department of Taxations and forwarded to the county auditor in October.

AN INDESTRUCTIBLE DOG, "Tina" returns from the grave to astonish its owners, Mrs. John Donovan and children, Dickie, 3; Donna, 4, and Jackie, 3, of Peabody, Mass. The mongrel was shot three times by Mr. Donovan after being hit by a motor car and was buried in an 18-inch grave. Eleven days after being buried, "Tina" walked 15 miles back to the Donovan home with wounds partially healed.

City Merchants Stressing Back-To-School Program

Circleville merchants are generating steam for a back-to-school promotion project.

Basic idea behind the project, which is already underway, is to help parents select proper wardrobes and school supplies for their school-age children.

During the promotion, which will last through next week, about 15 sponsoring merchants will show all types of merchandise which may be used in school, or which may prove an aid in the tussle for knowledge.

The list of sponsors includes shoe experts, hardware officials, grocery retailers and furniture executives.

INCLUDED in the project will be a free movie for children to be shown next Tuesday afternoon in the Grand and Cliftona theatres.

The movie will consist of 12 cartoons and a comedy. No tickets are necessary. Only requirements for admission to the theatres are youth, personal appearance and an enthusiasm for cartoons.

The movie is a gift of Circleville Chamber of Commerce to those who are going back to the text books, the lectures and the shiny wooden chairs.

The 15 merchants sponsoring the back-to-school project were listed by the chamber as:

Goldsmiths, Inc., L. M. Butch Co., Griffith Floorcovering, Ward's Upholstery, Economy Savings and Loan, Harpster and Yost Hardware, Western Auto, J. C. Penney Co., Mason Furniture, Groce Shoe Store, Boyd's Inc., Fairmont's Restaurant, Kocheiser Hardware, the Outlet Store and B. F. Goodrich Store.

25 Are Injured In Train Wreck

LAMPASAS, Tex., Aug. 31—Twenty-five persons were injured today when seven cars of a Santa Fe passenger train left the rails near here. Two trainmen were believed critically injured.

The injured are under treatment in a Lampasas hospital. Authorities believed that a split rail caused the derailment.

VFW RESOLVE ANSWERED

Defense Chief Sure He Has Confidence Of U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Defense Secretary Johnson turned on his critics in a lengthy reply today to congressional charges that he has "lost the confidence of the American people."

Johnson denied that he has been guilty of "brash statements on military strength," "false economy" or "pinch-penny methods," and said he does not believe that his remaining in the cabinet is "embarrassing" to the President.

The charges were made by Rep. Tauriello, (D) N. Y., in a letter addressed to Johnson over the weekend.

Johnson's defense came almost simultaneously with a resolution calling for his resignation passed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Chicago.

Johnson's 3,500-word reply, bringing the fight to remove him into the open, was released late yesterday at the Defense Department.

The secretary wrote: "I want to assure you that, in my opinion, I should not be secretary of defense today if, in fact, my continuance in office were—as you put it—'embarrassing' to the chief executive."

"I BELIEVE that the President is fully capable of speaking for himself, with respect to what he considers 'embarrassing'... and would therefore suggest that any further inquiries with respect to this should be addressed to the President."

The charge of "brash statements" concerned chiefly Johnson's claim that if an enemy attacked the U. S. would be ready to retaliate within an hour. Johnson said this had no application to the Korean war, and added:

"I have no apologies to make for my statements. I had reference of course, to our ability to launch a strategic (atomic) air strike.

"This ability and our enormous industrial potential are in my opinion the two great factors which have thus far prevented an attack upon us.

"Indeed, our very ability to do the thing I have mentioned... may be the reason why we are faced today in Korea with local aggression instead of being faced with bombing raids on American cities."

Freedom Crusade Advisory Group Set Up In Ohio

CINCINNATI, Aug. 31—Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati has announced the formation of an Ohio state advisory council to the Crusade for Freedom.

Taft, Ohio crusade chairman, said late yesterday that those who have accepted membership on the council are:

Murray D. Lincoln, president of the Farm Bureau insurance companies; Phil Hanna, secretary of the Ohio Federation of Labor; Jacob Clayman, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO-PAC Council; Joseph Fichter, director of the Ohio State Grange; George G. Sheridan, executive director of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants, and Walton Bliss, executive director of the Ohio Education Council.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia university, will open the crusade with a Labor Day broadcast from Denver.

The circulation of declarations for freedom will begin Sept. 4. The signed freedom scrolls will be permanently placed in the base of a new Freedom Bell Tower in Berlin, behind the Iron Curtain.

Ferguson Sure Of 'Walkaway'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Joseph T. Ferguson and Democratic National Chairman William Boyle are both confident that the Ohio state auditor will "win in a walkaway" over Sen. Robert A. Taft in the November elections.

That is what Boyle told Washington newsmen yesterday after Ferguson visited President Truman.

The auditor, accompanied on his political visit by Albert Hortsman of Dayton, Democratic national committeeman, said "things are looking better all the time" in his race to defeat Taft.

55 Feared Dead As Liner Falls In Egypt Desert

CAIRO, Aug. 31—A Trans-World Airlines Bombay-to-New York Constellation crashed and burned in the Egyptian desert early today and apparently all 55 persons aboard were killed, including 21 Americans.

The Americans included 16 passengers, among whom were two children, and five crewmen.

The unexplained crash of the giant, four-engined airliner occurred 55 miles northwest of Cairo near the little mudhut village of Atay Barrad.

Company officials said there apparently were no survivors among the 48 passengers and seven members of the crew. Five crew members were Americans. The other two were French.

Wreckage of the Constellation was sighted southwest of Tanta after an early morning search for the plane which had disappeared last evening on the Cairo-Rome leg of its flight.

The ship apparently went down less than 30 minutes after taking off from Farouk field.

A WIDESPREAD search was started for the airliner after it (Continued on Page Two)

Monday Booked For Observance As A Holiday

Circleville workmen and employers alike will benefit from Labor Day vacations Monday. Nearly all business in the city will come to a standstill Saturday night and remain closed until Tuesday morning.

Circleville banks, the public library, Pickaway County Courthouse offices and city offices all will be closed during the day.

The Circleville Herald employees will join the rest of the city in the holiday and no editions will be published.

Most industrial plants also will be shut down in the city, along with the retail merchants. The retailers are to remain open Wednesday afternoon because of the holiday.

Circleville postoffice will be closed, handling only incoming mail and special delivery parcels. No route deliveries will be made.

ed more than a mile in a south-ward smash designed to cut Pohang's overland communications with Taegu, 44 miles to the west-southwest.

Northwest of Taegu, meanwhile, a surprise Communist attack on the right (east) flank of the U. S. First Cavalry Division overran an American machine-gun position northeast of Waegwan at 1:30 Thursday afternoon.

BUT FIRST Cavalry troops counter-attacked three hours later and drove back a unit of 500 Red soldiers who had captured high ground in the area.

Four miles north-northeast of Waegwan, which lies on the Nakdong river's east bank 12 miles northwest of Taegu, U. S. artillery and planes blasted an estimated 100 Red troops entrenched on a 1,700-foot high ridge. First Cavalry troops had been repulsed Wednesday night when they stormed the height known as Hill No. 518.

The North Koreans were reported strongly entrenched atop the hill in stone-lined foxholes and caves reminiscent of Japanese defenses during World War II. The Reds had seven anti-personnel mines around the base of the ridge.

American artillery meantime opened fire on eight Communist tanks reported near Indong on the Nakdong's east bank 18 miles northwest of Taegu. Results of this action were not yet known Thursday night.

Some 17 miles southwest of Taegu, the U. S. Second Division continued to press an attack on the lower flank of the enemy's Hyonpung bridgehead, the only remaining important Red pocket on the Nakdong's east side. Here, the Americans advanced more than a mile Wednesday in the vicinity of Changdong.

Along Korea's southern seaboard, U. S. 25th Division troops were mopping up on Red groups which had filtered into the American rear to points as close as 28 air miles west of Pusan, chief allied entry port in Korea.

Airforce planes, detecting a movement to augment the Reds' southern forces, attacked an enemy column west of the Nam river. The pilots claimed to have destroyed an unspecified number of Red tanks as well as 12 out of 14 enemy trucks.

ALLIED PLANES once more flocked over the battlefields and struck far to the north in support of the United Nations ground forces resisting the pressure of 12 Red divisions, backed by three others moving into action.

Eight hundred tons of bombs—the heaviest single day's load yet dumped on the enemy's homeland—were rained on targets in North Korea Thursday by a fleet of 90 U. S. Superforts. Chief objective was the industrial and rail center of Chinnampo which received 600 tons in what was officially termed a "devastating" aerial blow.

Canada Railway Strike Ended By Parliament

OTTAWA, Aug. 31—Canada's striking rail employees returned to work today under a government mandate to end their paralyzing 10-day-old nationwide walkout.

The first trains to move in the dominion since Aug. 22 pulled out of their yards shortly after midnight over rust-coated tracks. They were freights.

The initial passenger run from Ottawa left for Montreal at 4:40 a. m.

The heads of the 17 striking unions ordered the 125,000 striking workers back to their jobs 19 minutes after a hastily-called parliament passed a bill directing an end to the work stoppage.

The legislation ordered the two carriers—Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways—to give their employees a four-cent-an-hour pay boost.

It also directed union and management representatives to resume their negotiations and provided that a government arbitrator be appointed to settle the dispute if no agreement is reached in 30 days.

The unions seek a reduction of the 48-hour work week to 40 hours with no loss in pay plus a seven-cents-an-hour increase.

Woman Is Held In Fatal Knifing

HILLSBORO, Aug. 31—Thelma Kittrell, 40-year-old Hillsboro woman, is under first degree murder charges today for the fatal stabbing of John H. Weaver, a 34-year-old Hillsboro truck driver.

Highland County Prosecutor Darrell R. Hottle said Weaver died Sunday of three knife wounds believed to have been inflicted by the woman during an argument. Hottle said the woman admitted the stabbing.

Rubber Plant To Be Opened

AKRON, Aug. 31—A reclaim rubber plant—scheduled to be in full production by early Fall—will be reopened in Akron.

T. G. Graham, vice-president of the B. F. Goodrich Co. who made the announcement, said there is a boom on in reclaim rubber and the nation is again turning for help from one of the "unsung hero" industries of World War II.

Current production of reclaim rubber is running at the highest rate since 1943, the peak year of World War II, Graham added.

Ohio's Largest Strip Mine Is Standing Idle

NEW LEXINGTON, Aug. 31—The Sunny Hill Mine—the biggest stripping operation in Ohio, closed down today along with 13 other Eastern Ohio mines because the recently ended Canadian railroad strike shut off the supply of empty coal cars.

Railroad officials said 33 mines were shut down yesterday, but that about half of these hoped to open today—at least for partial operations.

The spokesmen said they could not tell whether there would be enough coal cars available to keep the mines open all day. And no one knew what the situation would be tomorrow.

Other mines closed are the Dry Dock Coal Co., John Cook; Gilchrist, H. P. W., Teagarden, Buckingham 219, Rendmar 15, Hemlock Coal Co., Green Valley Coal Co., Montell Coal Co., Mineral Valley Coal Co., all in the Corning district; the Singer and Byer, and the Central Ohio Coal Co. in the Fultonham district.

A total of 881 cars are ordered for today and 352 placed.

Freak Accident Snaps Off Pole Here Wednesday

A utility pole was snapped off and a car seriously damaged in a freak accident at about 11:40 a. m. Wednesday near Washington and Corwin streets.

Officer Turney Ross said an auto operated by William Haddox, 21, of 372 Weldon avenue, went out of control, skidded across the street and smashed into the pole.

Ross said Haddox told him that he had attempted to pass another auto when the auto he was passing started to skid into him.

Haddox said that he jammed on his brakes to avoid a collision with the other car. He said that his car skidded across the road sideways, crashing into the pole.

The driver suffered minor head lacerations, while two other passengers escaped injury.

New Businesses Slow In Coming Due To Warfare

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31—Ohio's securities chief, Ernest Cornell, said today that the Korean war is holding down the formation of new companies—and this may eventually be bad for the nation's economy.

All stocks and bonds offered for sale in Ohio must be approved by Cornell, and he said that registrations are off "more than 50 percent" since the outbreak of the Korean fracas—even allowing for the Summer slack season.

The man who protects Buckeye investors from the sharpsters pointed out that our nation's economy is founded on new blood, new enterprise, new industry—and that it may suffer if the embryo companies are held back long enough.

Cornell blamed the slow-down on confusion and indecision. He said:

"A man starting out in a new business doesn't know whether he'll be able to get the new materials he needs, and if he doesn't get the materials his business will go to pot."

The securities chief said the big underwriters also are hanging back on the big stock deals because they don't know what future conditions will be any better than the next man. These underwriters are wary of being stuck, holding stock they cannot sell to the public.

Litter Of Nine Fat Pups Found In Hollow Tree

Mother Nature may be the best kennel master, after all.

At least, Ralph Wallace, Pickaway County Humane Society officer, was wondering Thursday whether Dame Nature might have a few secrets not yet found by modern dog-raisers.

He offered a German Police dog and her nine fat pups as evidence. All the pups were in top condition, appeared to have been sired by a blooded German police.

Wallace found the mother and litter in a hollow tree along Walnut creek north of Circleville.

He estimated the pups had been whelped about five weeks ago and said the mother was not more than four years old. Of the litter of nine, only one of the pups is female.

Commenting on the near perfect condition of the pups, Wallace declared:

"I've coddled and pampered German Police litters and never have had as good luck as this mother has. Maybe Mother Nature knows more about the business than we 'specialists' and veterinarians."

He said the pups would be taken to the county animal shelter, be offered to any person offering a good home.

Evacuation Plan Being Studied

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31—Ohio's civil defense chief believes the best means of saving life in an atom bomb raid is to remove "non-essential" persons from the state's major industrial centers.

Dr. William E. Warner, executive director for civil defense in Ohio, told delegates to the Associated Police Communications officers here yesterday that the evacuation of large cities is under study by the Ohio civil defense.

"Civil defense communication centers in Columbus and Canton must be housed in bombproof shelters," he said.

2 Local Girls Due In Finals Of Baton Test

Two Circleville girls were to have competed for the state junior title in baton-twirling Thursday in the Ohio State Fair.

They are Phyllis Dresbach and Anne Stocklen, both of whom passed their tests Wednesday in the semi-finals of the contest.

The Circleville lasses were to have competed Thursday against four other top-notch twirlers in the junior division, including Nancy Tillichody of Dayton, who won first place in Wednesday's semi-finals.

Meanwhile, Jackie Smith was eliminated in the semi-finals of the senior division of the contest and Linda Dresbach was eliminated from the junior section.

Columbus Youth Bound To Grand Jury In Theft

William Cochran, 19, of Columbus, was released on $500 bond Wednesday in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root in connection with the robbery of an Ashville jewelry store last week.

Cochran was one of four Columbus men accused of breaking into Boyd's store in Ashville and making off with nearly $800 in loot.

The other three men involved in the theft also are accused of robbing six other jewelry stores within the last few months and are being processed in Franklin County. Cochran allegedly was not with the other three men in the additional burglaries.

The Columbus man entered a plea of guilty to the accusation in Root's court and was bound to Pickaway County grand jury on the $500 bond. The accusation was filed by Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31—The body of 66-year-old Peter Schneider, assistant professor in the industrial engineering department at Ohio State university, has been returned to Columbus for funeral services.

Schneider was killed yesterday when his car crashed into a truck near Brookville, Ind. The professor and his wife were en route from Houston, Tex., where they had visited a son, George Schneider, and intended to stop in Dayton to visit another son, William.

Cleric, 2 Others Are Injured As Auto Rolls

A former Pickaway County minister, his wife and sister were injured at about 2:40 p. m. Wednesday just west of New Holland when their car overturned.

Authorities said the auto of the Rev. Carl Fischer, 72, of Trenton, was travelling west on Route 22 at an "S" curve when the vehicle skidded out of control and turned over.

The Rev. Mr. Fischer suffered a badly lacerated right hand and wrist and a possible fractured shoulder in the crash.

His wife, Elizabeth, and sister, Katherine Fischer, both suffered body cuts and bruises in the mishap. All three were admitted in Washington C. H. hospital.

Rev. Fischer is a brother to Frank and Eva Fischer of Circleville and George Fischer of Jackson Township. He formerly lived near Circleville.

Freak Accident Snaps Off Pole Here Wednesday

A utility pole was snapped off and a car seriously damaged in a freak accident at about 11:40 a. m. Wednesday near Washington and Corwin streets.

Officer Turney Ross said an auto operated by William Haddox, 21, of 372 Weldon avenue, went out of control, skidded across the street and smashed into the pole.

Ross said Haddox told him that he had attempted to pass another auto when the auto he was passing started to skid into him.

Haddox said that he jammed on his brakes to avoid a collision with the other car. He said that his car skidded across the road sideways, crashing into the pole. The driver suffered minor head lacerations, while two other passengers escaped injury.

New Businesses Slow In Coming Due To Warfare

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31—Ohio's securities chief, Ernest Cornell, said today that the Korean war is holding down the formation of new companies—and this may eventually be bad for the nation's economy.

All stocks and bonds offered for sale in Ohio must be approved by Cornell, and he said that registrations are off "more than 50 percent" since the outbreak of the Korean fracas—even allowing for the Summer slack season.

The man who protects Buckeye investors from the sharpsters pointed out that our nation's economy is founded on new blood, new enterprise, new industry—and that it may suffer if the embryo companies are held back long enough.

Cornell blamed the slow-down on confusion and indecision. He said:

"A man starting out in a new business doesn't know whether he'll be able to get the new materials he needs, and if he doesn't get the materials his business will go to pot."

The securities chief said the big underwriters also are hanging back on the big stock deals because they don't know what future conditions will be any better than the next man. These underwriters are wary of being stuck, holding stock they cannot sell to the public.

Litter Of Nine Fat Pups Found In Hollow Tree

Mother Nature may be the best kennel master, after all.

At least, Ralph Wallace, Pickaway County Humane Society officer, was wondering Thursday whether Dame Nature might have a few secrets not yet found by modern dog-raisers.

He offered a German Police dog and her nine fat pups as evidence. All the pups were in top condition, appeared to have been sired by a blooded German police.

Wallace found the mother and litter in a hollow tree along Walnut creek north of Circleville.

He estimated the pups had been whelped about five weeks ago and said the mother was not more than four years old. Of the litter of nine, only one of the pups is female.

Commenting on the near perfect condition of the pups, Wallace declared:

"I've coddled and pampered German Police litters and never have had as good luck as this mother has. Maybe Mother Nature knows more about the business than we 'specialists' and veterinarians."

He said the pups would be taken to the county animal shelter, be offered to any person offering a good home.

Evacuation Plan Being Studied

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31—Ohio's civil defense chief believes the best means of saving life in an atom bomb raid is to remove "non-essential" persons from the state's major industrial centers.

Dr. William E. Warner, executive director for civil defense in Ohio, told delegates to the Associated Police Communications officers here yesterday that the evacuation of large cities is under study by the Ohio civil defense.

"Civil defense communication centers in Columbus and Canton must be housed in bombproof shelters," he said.

2 Local Girls Due In Finals Of Baton Test

Two Circleville girls were to have competed for the state junior title in baton-twirling Thursday in the Ohio State Fair.

They are Phyllis Dresbach and Anne Stocklen, both of whom passed their tests Wednesday in the semi-finals of the contest.

The Circleville lasses were to have competed Thursday against four other top-notch twirlers in the junior division, including Nancy Tillichody of Dayton, who won first place in Wednesday's semi-finals.

Meanwhile, Jackie Smith was eliminated in the semi-finals of the senior division of the contest and Linda Dresbach was eliminated from the junior section.

Veep Fears Fall Of UN

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Vice-President Barkley believes that unless the United Nations can realize its goal of preserving peace and preventing aggression, it may "go the way of the League of Nations."

Speaking at the 8th annual dinner-meeting of the United Better Dress Manufacturers Association in Hotel Astor, he also made these points:

"When anybody rises in the U. S. or elsewhere and describes the United States as an imperialist nation, it is a vile slander upon our history and upon our character."

Columbus Youth Bound To Grand Jury In Theft

William Cochran, 19, of Columbus, was released on $500 bond Wednesday in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root in connection with the robbery of an Ashville jewelry store last week.

Cochran was one of four Columbus men accused of breaking into Boyd's store in Ashville and making off with nearly $600 in loot.

The other three men involved in the theft also are accused of robbing six other jewelry stores within the last few months and are being processed in Franklin County. Cochran allegedly was not with the other three men in the additional burglaries.

The Columbus man entered a plea of guilty to the accusation in Root's court and was bound to Pickaway County grand jury on the $500 bond. The accusation was filed by Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards.

Father Slays 3 Children, Self

NAPOLEON, Aug. 31—Verdicts of murder and suicide have been returned in the deaths of a Napoleon father and his three small children.

Coroner B. L. Johnson said yesterday that Floyd J. Hefflinger, 51, shot and killed his 15-year-old daughter, Shirley, and her baby brothers, Floyd, 3, and Joseph, 2. He turned the gun on himself after the triple slaying.

The coroner said Hefflinger had become despondent, but could not determine immediately the cause of the despondency.

OSU Professor Dies In Crash

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31—The body of 66-year-old Peter Schneider, assistant professor in the industrial engineering department at Ohio State university, has been returned to Columbus for funeral services.

Schneider was killed yesterday when his car crashed into a truck near Brookville, Ind. The professor and his wife were en route from Houston, Tex., where they had visited a son, George Schneider, and intended to stop in Dayton to visit another son, William.

Cleric, 2 Others Are Injured As Auto Rolls

A former Pickaway County minister, his wife and sister were injured at about 2:40 p. m. Wednesday just west of New Holland when their car overturned.

Authorities said the auto of the Rev. Carl Fischer, 72, of Trenton, was travelling west on Route 22 at an "S" curve when the vehicle skidded out of control and turned over.

The Rev. Mr. Fischer suffered a badly lacerated right hand and wrist and a possible fractured shoulder in the crash.

His wife, Elizabeth, and sister, Katherine Fischer, both suffered body cuts and bruises in the mishap. All three were admitted in Washington C. H. hospital.

Rev. Fischer is a brother to Frank and Eva Fischer of Circleville and George Fischer of Jackson Township. He formerly lived near Circleville.

Saltcreek Needs Only One Teacher

School To Open Next Tuesday

Saltcreek Township school faces only one teacher opening prior to its opening of school Tuesday.

Superintendent Harold Strous said his school needs an English and home economics instructor to make the teacher roster complete.

Strous added that the second floor of the school has been redecorated for the coming year, as well as the school lunchroom.

Staff for the year is: Mrs. Florence Bochart, first grade; Mrs. Eunice Cross, second and third grades; Margaret Chilcote, third and fourth grades; Gordon Thompson, fifth and sixth grades and high school basketball and baseball coach; Leslie Dearth, seventh and eighth grades, high school mathematics, grade basketball coach and high school track coach;

EDWARD GRAHAM, seventh grade English and music instructor; Herbert Brown, geography, industrial arts, physical science and languages; Alice DeLong, social science and commercial studies; and Superintendent Strous, sciences.

Lunchroom cooks during the year will be Mrs. Laura Rector, Mrs. Ethel Jones and Mrs. Bertha O'Hara, while Richard Fischer has been hired as janitor.

Bus drivers employed by the school are Max Luckhart, Lee Bochart, Carl Anderson, Bundy Woodward, Floyd Reid and Merrill Imler.

Strous explained that the youngsters will be dismissed an hour early on opening day.

Elinor Williams'

Teen Tips

Troubles, troubles — everybody has them once in a while. Girls' troubles are usually boys. A high school girl writes:

"I have been dating one boy in particular for four weeks and not eating anybody else. He has told me he loves me and that we are going together, but he never directly asked me to go 'steady.' I like him very much, but would like to have your advice as to whether to think we are going steady. He seems to be taking it for granted. Shall I go out with other boys?"

Ans.—Some boys are too shy to talk much about "going steady," but, if he's sincere, even the shyest one usually mentions it or gives his date his class pin to wear. Some boys don't realize how much it means to girls to have a definite understanding about dates, if they want to "go steady."

Your steady date—if he really is "steady"—is not too shy to tell you he loves you, so it can't be shyness that prevents him from mentioning your exact status. Perhaps he does take it for granted.

But some boys use the "love" and "going together" routine merely as a hopeful method of getting more kisses and don't mean what they say.

So next time he asks for a date or mentions "love," you could ask him what he means by "going together," so you'll know whether it means the same to both of you. It's silly to give up dates with other boys unless you have more fun with him than any others—and unless he restricts his dates, too.

'THE ENEMY AT HOME'

Americans Among Those Attending Lenin School

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Soviet Russia's long range program for world conquest has included the development of the greatest espionage system in all history.

That system is operating today in the United States, the number one target of the Communist offensive.

Hundreds of American Communists have been trained for espionage and sabotage in schools in Red Russia and are now back in the United States on key assignments to further the Communist conspiracy.

The effectiveness of this training and the revolutionary tactics taught are now a matter of official record.

They have been described in illuminating detail in sworn testimony by various ex-Communist witnesses before the House Un-American Activities Committee and other government agencies.

Other evidence of the extent of the Soviet spy network is coming to light almost daily with the arrest by the FBI of additional members of the espionage ring.

As to the number of spies in the vast network, ex-Communist Joseph Kornfeder of Detroit testified:

"Where there are five Communists, it is safe to assume that at least one, if not more, is a Soviet spy. The Comintern therefore enjoys surveillance over every phase and aspect of life in practically every civilized and semi-civilized land on the globe."

* KORNFEDER was a witness before the Un-American Activities Committee. He was a charter member of the Communist Party in the United States and served as trade union secretary on the party's national committee.

On the strength and organization of the Communist International, Kornfeder testified:

"Outside Russia, the Comintern now claims 16 million members scattered literally over the globe, with only Eskimos, Patagonians and a few primitive African and Asiatic tribes free of infiltration."

"The Comintern as such has naturally become the world's greatest and most far-flung espionage network. A British member of parliament, an American labor leader, a Chinese peasant, a Hindu merchant or a South American artisan, if a Communist, may be a member or cooperate with the Soviet intelligence network."

"This special arm of the Soviet dictatorship is the most remarkable fifth column ever possessed by any great power in all history."

Kornfeder and other witnesses testified that thousands of Communists, including Americans, have been trained for espionage, sabotage and combat in the Lenin school in Moscow.

The training includes an intensive course in military organization taught by Red army officers. This course, Kornfeder said, begins "with the problem of organizing small combat groups" and extends to the organization of a "Red guard and transforming local Red guard organizations into regular army formations."

"The course," the witness continued, "includes problems involved in the capture of strategic government buildings, communication centers, and the destruction of select units upon which the government to be attacked could rely."

"IT ALSO includes the problem of forming, after capture, regular army formations, and

Small Farmers Develop Places, Ag Agency Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—The Agriculture Department indicates that small farmers throughout the nation are showing increasing interest in developing their places for more diversification and better production balances.

The department says that during the year ended June 30, almost 2,000 small farmers have obtained Farmers Home Administration loans for improvement of their farms.

Of 3,892 loans made during the last year, the department says about half were for farm improvement programs. The year before, only one third of all farmers home loans were for such programs.

The FHA says that twice as many farmers received loans during the 1950 fiscal year, compared with the 1949 business year.

The loans are made by banks, insurance companies and other private lenders and are insured by the FHA. To obtain this credit a farmer must be able to make a 10 percent down payment or have that much equity in his farm.

Motorist Held In Assault Case

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31—Cleveland police today are holding a motorist in connection with an accident and a case of assault. The motorist, a 39-year-old fireman for the New York Central Railroad, admitted to police that he drove into a bicycle which Daniel Albu, 10, was pushing and knocked the boy over Tuesday.

He also said he struck Roland Richardson, 49, who chased him and brought him back to the scene of the accident.

the allied problems of ballistics and military topography.

"Part of a course in practical training," Kornfeder testified, "included the handling of rifles, machineguns, hand grenades, small artillery and military transport."

"A course is also given in the handling of railway engines for the purpose of wrecking railway communications."

Upon completion of their training, Kornfeder said, students return to their home countries and are assigned to key jobs in the Communist Party. Kornfeder himself was a graduate of the Lenin school.

Other such schools are maintained in Russia, the witness said. One in Leningrad specializes in training personnel for secret service in foreign countries, with emphasis on economic and military espionage. This school turns out from 800 to 1,200 students a year.

These schools have been in operation for many years, with the result that today thousands of trained Communists are now at work in non-Communist countries—a among them, of course, the United States.

Their one purpose is to work for world revolution, to overthrow their respective governments and, in the event of war with Russia, to help defeat their own governments and defend the Soviet Union.

Other witnesses, testifying in similar vein, told how students were taught to foment civil war and create dissension and confusion. They said that in guerrilla warfare practices they used maps of U. S. cities showing key installations.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

THE ENEMY AT HOME

Americans Among Those Attending Lenin School

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Soviet Russia's long range program for world conquest has included the development of the greatest espionage system in all history.

That system is operating today in the United States, the number one target of the Communist offensive.

Hundreds of American Communists have been trained for espionage and sabotage in schools in Red Russia and are now back in the United States on key assignments to further the Communist conspiracy.

The effectiveness of this training and the revolutionary tactics taught are now a matter of official record.

They have been described in illuminating detail in sworn testimony by various ex-Communist witnesses before the House un-American Activities Committee and other government agencies.

Other evidence of the extent of the Soviet spy network is coming to light almost daily with the arrest by the FBI of additional members of the espionage ring.

As to the number of spies in the vast network, ex-Communist Joseph Kornfeder of Detroit testified:

"Where there are five Communists, it is safe to assume that at least one, if not more, is a Soviet spy. The Comintern therefore enjoys surveillance over every phase and aspect of life in practically every civilized and semi-civilized land on the globe."

* KORNFEDER WAS a witness before the un-American Activities Committee. He was a charter member of the Communist Party in the United States and served as trade union secretary on the party's national committee.

On the strength and organization of the Communist International, Kornfeder testified:

"Outside Russia, the Comintern now claims 16 million members scattered literally over the globe, with only Eskimos, Patagonians and a few primitive African and Asiatic tribes free of infiltration.

"The Comintern as such has naturally become the world's greatest and most far-flung espionage network. A British member of parliament, an American labor leader, a Chinese peasant, a Hindu merchant or a South American artisan, if a Communist, may be a member or cooperate with the Soviet intelligence network.

"This special arm of the Soviet dictatorship is the most remarkable fifth column ever possessed by any great power in all history."

Kornfeder and other witnesses testified that thousands of Communists, including Americans, have been trained for espionage, sabotage and combat in the Lenin school in Moscow.

The training includes an intensive course in military organization taught by Red army officers. This course, Kornfeder said, begins "with the problem of organizing small combat groups" and extends to the organization of a "Red guard and transforming local Red guard organizations into regular army formations."

"The course," the witness continued, "includes problems involved in the capture of strategic government buildings, communication centers, and the destruction of select units upon which the government to be attacked could rely."

"IT ALSO includes the problem of forming, after capture, regular army formations, and

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

In the last four years, we have expended $50 billion on our armed forces. In no case, as far as I know, has Congress withheld money requested by the President for military appropriations in spite of many efforts towards economy in other fields. We, in Congress, certainly supposed that we had a first-class Army, Navy and Air Force to meet attack, and we were as much surprised as anyone when it appeared that we were unable to fight a small nation like the North Koreans, except after a long delay. Whether this is due to lack of money or bad planning should certainly be investigated.

In the meantime, however, the Korean war has brought home to us vividly the danger of Russian military aggression.

I don't know whether Russia is contemplating military aggression to deliberately provoke a third World War or not, but we have to be prepared for it. Congress is not inclined to stint on money for that purpose. Unfortunately, no one seems to know exactly what our foreign policy is, what our military policy is, or what the goal of our planning is.

Where would a third World War be fought and what would it be like?

How do we finally win such a war?

Do we send an American Army of five million men to fight Russia on the continent of Europe?

Do we ultimately march to Moscow as Napoleon and Hitler attempted to do?

How effectively can our Air Force and the atom bomb destroy the aggressive power of Russia?

ON ALL THESE questions, I feel that Congress and the people are in the dark, but until we determine these questions it is very difficult to know how large our armed forces ought to be. A year ago when the Atlantic Pact was adopted, we were told that there was a plan to defend Europe and that an international commander was to be appointed promptly. Now, a year later, there is still no plan. If we send a number of additional divisions to Germany, will the British do the same? To what extent will the French arm?

In Western Europe there are 220 million people, nearly 50 per cent more than in the United States, and surely their main defense must be by their own troops. But half of these people are Germans and Italians who are disarmed.

If Europe is to be defended, surely the Germans and Italians must be in the battle. That requires the arming of Germans and Italians, and nothing has yet been done in that direction.

Shall there be a German national force, or shall there be a European Army enlisting Germans and Italians?

These questions are not settled, and are not even publicly discussed. I have heard no definite military opinion as to whether it is possible to defend Western Europe against a Russia fully mobilized and using the atom bomb.

Is it possible after the war starts to send any large American Army to Europe under those circumstances? It is suggested that we cannot even defend our own cities against an atom bomb. If not, how can we defend Paris, or London or the ports of debarkation?

In short, the measures to be taken in appropriating for the Army and therefore in levying taxes and imposing controls in the United States depend on our foreign policy and our military plans.

Up to the present time there seems to be a complete lack of both plans and policy from the present Administration. The people and Congress have a right to the information which will enable them to come to an intelligent conclusion.

MARKING HIS 104th birthday, Civil war veteran William Allen Magee lights his pipe in Van Nuys, Cal., and says he is pretty spry but doesn't feel quite equal to serving in another war. (International)

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief! It's Now Possible To RELIEVE THE CAUSE OF YOUR SICKNESS

Neuritis Pains, Stomach Disturbances, Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Constipation, Certain Nervous Disorders When Due to Lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in Your System!

HADACOL One of the Greatest Blessings of the Times!

Just a Few of Thousands Upon Thousands of Interesting Records of Folks With Such Deficiencies Who Have Been Helped

Mrs. C. C. Keller, 1629 1/2 Frederick Avenue, St. Joseph, Missouri, says HADACOL really has put a stop to her neuritis pains. She was in a very bad condition with aches and pains and unable to sleep and was forced to give up her position as a practical nurse. She had severe pains in her wrists and stiffness in her hips, being almost unable to walk. Now after taking one bottle of HADACOL, she is able to do her own housework. She most enthusiastically recommends HADACOL to all sufferers from neuritis pains.

Floyd Mabe, 1401A South 7th Street, St. Louis, Missouri: "For some time after a wartime injury I had been troubled with neuritis pains in my legs and could not work. Nothing seemed to help me until I tried HADACOL. After taking a half bottle, I seemed to feel better. My wife told me it was only my imagination, but I continued to take HADACOL and up to the present have taken 13 bottles. Now I feel fine with no more pains in my legs." (HADACOL is so effective because it relieves the REAL CAUSE of neuritis aches when due to such deficiencies. Why don't you give HADACOL a chance to help you?)

Mrs. John Geary, 840 Ursuline Street, New Orleans, Louisiana: "I had such a nervous stomach I was unable to eat regularly. Lots of times I was unable to hold any food on my stomach. Then I heard about HADACOL. After the first few bottles I could tell a definite improvement. Now my stomach doesn't trouble me at all. I eat anything I want. HADACOL is wonderful. You can see that, if it did so much for me after suffering so." (A big improvement is often noticed within a few days' time. One of the many advantages of HADACOL is that continued use helps prevent such stomach distress from returning. Don't continue to suffer. Start taking HADACOL today!)

Link Robinson (a steel worker for over 20 years), 519 Lindsey, Newport, Kentucky: "When your stomach is in bad shape as mine, couldn't eat, gas pains, stomach bloating and nervousness, then your body doesn't get the proper foods it needs. My boss told me about HADACOL and I started taking it immediately. After the second bottle I could tell a definite improvement. Now I can eat anything I want to. Best of all I haven't got those terrific gas pains and stomach bloating."

Mrs. L. C. Cifasi, 327 N. 14th Street, Springfield, Illinois: "I am elated with the wonderful results obtained by taking HADACOL. I had emotional indigestion, which is a stomach distress and makes a person feel down and out. HADACOL seemed to be prepared for my ailment, for it made a new woman of me."

W. E. Hoxworth, a skilled maintenance man in Waco, Texas: "I almost had to give up my job because of suffering from stomach distress. I couldn't hold my food, as no food agreed with me. After hearing about HADACOL and completing a second bottle, I began to feel better and regain the weight I lost, and suffered no more indigestion. I now take HADACOL regularly to help stay well." (Why don't you try HADACOL?)

Mrs. J. Sciessinski, 514 Kruger, Ottumwa, Iowa: "My daughter, Marilyn Sue, is five years old and for some time lacked pep, had a poor appetite, was generally run-down. Since giving her HADACOL, we have noticed wonderful results. She has a much better appetite, eats everything on the table and doesn't seem tired like she used to. Incidentally, she likes to take her HADACOL, too." (Kids sure do like HADACOL.)

Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc—the Man Responsible for the Great New HADACOL

Now! Thanks to the tireless efforts in scientific research of Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc—eminent statesman of Louisiana and creator of this great new HADACOL nutritional formula—it's at last possible to relieve the REAL CAUSE of such ailments as neuritis pains, stomach distress, gas pains, heartburn, indigestion, insomnia, certain nervous disorders and a general run-down condition due to lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin.

Senator LeBlanc has just completed a modern $250,000 manufacturing plant and a similar one is well under way so that this wonderful HADACOL will always be available to the public.

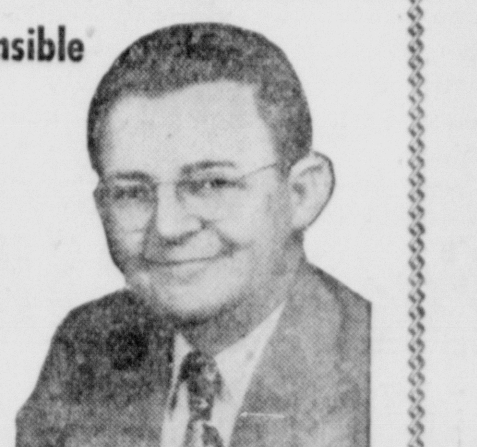

What the Great HADACOL Does...

No longer do you have to be satisfied with symptomatic relief—you can start this very day, and relieve the REAL CAUSE of such ailments with HADACOL. Get that wonderful HADACOL feeling everyone is talking about! A big improvement in the way you feel is often noticed in a few days.

And continued use of HADACOL helps prevent such ailments from coming back. Naturally, there's an explanation for this. You see, HADACOL not only feeds deficient, run-down systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin but also helpful amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—elements so vital to help maintain good health and guard against such deficiency sickness.

Sold on Strict Money-Back Guarantee Don't continue to suffer! Be fair to yourself—start taking HADACOL today. HADACOL

GET THAT WONDERFUL HADACOL FEELING

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

In the last four years, we have expended $50 billion on our armed forces. In no case, as far as I know, has Congress withheld money requested by the President for military appropriations in spite of many efforts towards economy in other fields. We, in Congress, certainly supposed that we had a first-class Army, Navy and Air Force to meet attack, and we were as much surprised as anyone when it appeared that we were unable to fight a small nation like the North Koreans, except after a long delay. Whether this is due to lack of money or bad planning should certainly be investigated.

In the meantime, however, the Korean war has brought home to us vividly the danger of Russian military aggression.

I don't know whether Russia is contemplating military aggression to deliberately provoke a third World War or not, but we have to be prepared for it. Congress is not inclined to stint on money for that purpose. Unfortunately, no one seems to know exactly what our foreign policy is, what our military policy is, or what the goal of our planning is.

Where would a third World War be fought and what would it be like?

How do we finally win such a war?

Do we send an American Army of five million men to fight Russia on the continent of Europe?

Do we ultimately march to Moscow as Napoleon and Hitler attempted to do?

How effectively can our Air Force and the atom bomb destroy the aggressive power of Russia?

ON ALL THESE questions, I feel that Congress and the people are in the dark, but until we determine these questions it is very difficult to know how large our armed forces ought to be. A year ago when the Atlantic Pact was adopted, we were told that there was a plan to defend Europe and that an international commander was to be appointed promptly. Now, a year later, there is still no plan. If we send a number of additional divisions to Germany, will the British do the same? To what extent will the French arm?

In Western Europe there are 220 million people, nearly 50 per cent more than in the United States, and surely their main defense must be by their own troops. But half of these people are Germans and Italians who are disarmed.

If Europe is to be defended, surely the Germans and Italians must be in the battle. That requires the arming of Germans and Italians, and nothing has yet been done in that direction.

Shall there be a German national force, or shall there be a European Army enlisting Germans and Italians?

These questions are not settled, and are not even publicly discussed. I have heard no definite military opinion as to whether it is possible to defend Western Europe against a Russia fully mobilized and using the atom bomb.

Is it possible after the war starts to send any large American Army to Europe under those circumstances? It is suggested that we cannot even defend our own cities against an atom bomb. If not, how can we defend Paris, or London or the ports of debarkation?

In short, the measures to be taken in appropriating for the Army and therefore in levying taxes and imposing controls in the United States depend on our foreign policy and our military plans.

Up to the present time there seems to be a complete lack of both plans and policy from the present Administration. The people and Congress have a right to the information which will enable them to come to an intelligent conclusion.

MARKING HIS 104th birthday, Civil war veteran William Allen Magee lights his pipe in Van Nuys, Cal., and says he is pretty spry but doesn't feel quite equal to serving in another war. (International)

HOW TO CHANGE A LEOPARD'S SPOTS

Can you change the spots on a leopard? The platitude says no. But the spots on that particularly dangerous breed known as "the reckless driver" can be changed.

This thought is prompted by the approaching Labor Day holiday. The record-breaking carnage of the Memorial Day and Fourth of July weekends has been duly recorded by the National Safety Council—but possibly forgotten by too many of us. Will the Labor Day weekend bring another casualty list of 400-odd persons killed in traffic and an uncounted number injured?

Most of us are responsible drivers of reasonable skill and prudence. We don't want to kill anyone—least of all ourselves.

But there are some drivers on the highways—say, one out of ten—who are always potential accident-makers. The speed demons, the arrogant lane-weavers, the drunks, the law-flouters.

Their spots can be changed—by police and court action!

That is the only way to get quick results. Highway engineering, driver training, thorough education—these are desirable and worthwhile objectives. But their promise lies in the future.

Meanwhile, Labor Day is upon us. Concerted and vigorous action by state patrols and city police—backed by quick justice in the traffic courts—can hold deaths to a minimum, as many states demonstrated with a perfect or near-perfect record over the Fourth.

Strict traffic law enforcement is commonly believed by the politicians to be unpopular. This has been proved a fallacy so often by intelligent and courageous public officials that it no longer is worth arguing. There are always a few vocal objectors who apparently feel themselves above the law, but the public generally would welcome some assurance that "death will not take their holiday."

Thus it is the responsibility of all of us to get behind a crackdown on motor madness by police and traffic courts during the Summer's last holiday.

Is it worth a three-cent stamp and five minutes of your time? Then write your mayor and governor. Let them know you want the laws enforced. Tell them you are with them in any all-out effort to put an end to holiday horror. They can do it with your help!

Big way to help is to drive safely yourself.

A minister says the right to judge others is earned only by ruthlessly analyzing one's own shortcomings. By that standard, the qualified judges of humanity could be counted without the aid of adding machines.

These Days

Clement M. Hull, writing to the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegram, complains about me on the grounds that I said that to sin publicly is worse than to sin in secret. Hull cannot go along with what seems to be an encouragement to hypocrisy. He says:

"Progressive moralists try to deal with evil by digging it out of its hiding places and looking it square in the eye. This results in such things as campaigns against syphilis, campaigns for better reform schools. Spiritual illness is treated by educators and psychologists much in the same way as psychological disorders are treated by psychiatrists and physical disorders are treated by physicians. Less and less do we try to hush-hush and less and less do we blame and condemn."

In the first two decades of the Twentieth Century, many hoped that frankness might make a better world. We had been reading Ibsen and Shaw, Wells and Bri-eux; we had read Kraftt-Ebing and Havell-ock Ellis. We had been fed the theology of higher-criticism. Tolstoy, Dostoevsky and Gorky had come into our lives. We knew truth and we understood progress.

Well, take the perspective of 1950. What of progress! Most of the world—all of it from the River Elbe to the Pacific—is altogether without freedom or progress. It has all turned back to a rigid feudalistic enslavement of man.

As I come to think of it, I was in one of the first strikes for academic freedom. It was so long ago. William Howard Taft, President of the United States, had attacked Charles A. Beard, our professor of politics, who had written a small book, "Economic Interpretation of the Constitution." We heard that President Nicholas Murray Butler was going to fire Beard from Columbia. We went on strike for academic freedom.

How fresh was the air we breathed! Mind you, I was brought up in the slums of New York—but we did not, as children, encounter pansies, fairies, homosexuals and our mothers did not worry about the corruption of our sisters by Lesbian school-teachers.

Sure! All things happened that have been happening since Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt, but we grew up with the law of the sidewalk that a liar deserved a punch on the nose and got it; and that a thief landed in jail; that a judge was expected to be straight; that the President of the United States was a gentleman to be emulated, even if it was tough to try to be like him. We were taught to respect our parents, to be ashamed of our wrong-doing, to confess when caught and to cry and ask for forgiveness.

My mother lived to be well past 80 and she never understood my way of life, which was very different from hers. But I never lied to her—not once. It was just something that could not be done.

Labor surplus has been converted to labor shortage. And the women may soon be out of the kitchens again.

Some fellows complain that it's hard to make ends meet. But it's even harder to keep them apart until payday.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

The man who was going to stay submerged until taxes came down didn't stick it out nearly as long as the woman who is letting her hair grow until a Republican sits in the White House.

She has watched women all around her change their style of hair-do eight times but she's still waiting for the men to change their style of politics just once.

But this fellow who went on the tax dive gave up after 10 weeks. Something told him taxes were not coming down. It may have been his congressman.

The only way we can see to increase revenues above present plans is put more MacArthur speeches in the Congressional Record and get it on the news stands.

With a little White House publicity they could get 50 cents for the book without putting holes in the cover.

of next Jan. 3. Otherwise it must be considered anew by the 82nd Congress.

● CONTROLS NOW?—Despite turmoil and see-saw action, Congress is virtually certain to give President Truman a free hand to roll back and freeze prices and wages when he feels that the inflationary situation justifies it.

There is also a strong possibility that pressure from Congress will force the President to put price and wage controls into effect if the cost of living rises very much above the present level. Congress is highly sensitive to the strong public reaction against price increases which have occurred since the Korean war started and against the mad panic of hoarding that has stripped retail store shelves.

● NO UNIVERSAL SERVICE?—The government's secret plan for all-out mobilization does not contemplate universal service such as was enforced by Great Britain in World War II.

Britain, desperate in the face of threatened invasion, passed a law enabling the government to dictate the duties of every citizen within certain age limits. There was much demand for similar legislation in the United States but it was never realized.

Mobilizer W. Stuart Symington has had the matter carefully studied and found that the American effort in World War II actually outstripped that of the British. Therefore, he will not recommend a universal service law when and if all-out mobilization becomes necessary.

● MCCARTHY PROBE DIES OUT?—It is doubtful if you'll hear much more about Senator Joseph McCarthy's charges of Communism in the State department for some time.

With the Korean conflict demanding the attention of Congress, both Democrats and Republicans feel that the investigation touched off by the Wisconsin Republican should be set aside for the time being.

McCarthy himself has not pushed his case very hard during the past few weeks because Congress has been embroiled in work on defense and economic control measures needed to meet the Korean situation.

However, McCarthy's case and GOP charges that the Tydings subcommittee attempted to "whitewash" the matter are sure to pop up in this autumn's elections.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

BAYAN of the Hundred Eyes was sitting on his black horse on an elevation which afforded a clear view of the great yellow river. Walter could see that his face had lighted up with a triumphant smile.

"What fools the Domdats generals are!" said Bayan to the huddle of horsemen about him. "All that great fleet will soon be destroyed. Then a single army will be all that stands between me and Kinsai! We will scatter it like sand before the wind!"

A succession of land victories had carried the Mongols down the line of the Han River, as Bayan had planned, and across the Yangtze, great cities falling to them like ripe grain before a sweeping sickle. Now Bayan had launched his attack on the Manji fleet.

"Englishman!" cried Bayan, catching sight of Walter. "You arrived in time to see my greatest victory. The Manji back has been broken. Now I shall march on Kinsai." He smiled in easy triumph.

"I can now make good use of you, Englishman. The Manji are so thoroughly beaten that it is useless for them to fight on. It will add to my reputation if I have to break through to Kinsai, but I prefer it the other way. I have no heart for mass slaughter, and I would then have to deliver that great city over to the sword. My men would demand it as their right."

"I want you to go with Chang Wu. You will go to Kinsai in the guise of a scholar from the West in search of knowledge of Chinese ways. When you get to Kinsai, keep your eyes and ears open and, if possible, get reports back to me. I want you to act with Chang Wu in bringing the peace movement to a head. They may listen to you when you tell them how powerful my armies are and what a terrible vengeance I must exact if they fight on to the end. I am convinced, Englishman, that very little now is needed to bring resistance to a head against the blind will of the ministers of the state."

"I need not tell you there will be danger in this mission. If the Manji ministers suspect the truth, they will cut off your head. They might even contrive a much more painful death for you."

"I am prepared to face that possibility."

"Good!" Bayan smiled. "I was sure of you, Englishman, and it is gratifying to have my estimate confirmed. And now I must give you fuller instructions. We must plan every step you are to take when you get the Kinsai. I am deeply concerned over the need for an early peace. That great city must be saved if at all possible."

First you must travel in state so they will believe you a foreign prince of some consequence. I shall have a cloak for you of ermine and black moleskin, and a gold chain to wear around your neck. This priest will go along with you. If you return, your reward will be large."

"I am not concerned with the reward, my lord Bayan."

It was a priest who directed them—Walter, Chang Wu and Father Theodore—to the yard with tanbark walls where paper was made. The yard itself was a great disappointment to Walter. He had not known what to expect, but certainly he had been prepared to find the miracle of papermaking brought about with more difficulty and mystery. Entering with Chang Wu, he found that two score or more of workmen were beating fiber of various sorts, the inner bark of the mulberry being in most general use.

The envoy smiled and spoke to the man in charge. The latter stripped off a sheet of dried pulp and held it up for their inspection. It was white, wafer-thin, and with a firm smooth surface. Chang Wu took it, felt it critically between thumb and finger, and then handed it to Walter.

"The finest of paper," he said. "Does my young friend desire to test it?"

Walter's amazement at the simplicity of the process was giving way to consideration of how the secret could be used. It was certain that paper could be made in this way in England as readily as in China. Already improvements in method were suggesting themselves to him.

It was midday when they had their first glimpse of Kinsai (now Hangchow). In the hot blaze of the sun it stretched in languid beauty across the horizon like a red-and-green velvet carpet. Chang Wu reined in and regarded the high walls and peaked towers ahead of them with an air of sudden gravity. "Illustrious Chang Wu," Walter said, "I have been wondering if you know ought of a trader of Kinsai whose name is Sung Yung and who is sometimes called 'Fire from Black Clouds'?"

"Sung Yung!" Chang Wu spat the name. "Yes, lord from the West. I know much of this 'Fire from Black Clouds.' He is a wolf who devours the bodies of those of his own pack who fall in the chase. You also will hear much of Sung Yung while you are in Kinsai, for he has become the heart and soul of the war party."

"I was not prepared to find him so prominent a figure. A merchant of Antioch named Anthemus directed me to him."

"I know much of Anthemus also. Those two, they are like molting feathers plucked from the cushion of a cormorant."

"I carry a letter for Sung Yung." As they rode on into the city, the envoy said: "In the Street of Delightful Flowers there is one house which, it so happens, belongs to me. It is called the Adobe of the Twelve Puchsia Blossoms, and it is very exclusive. There are rooms at the top of the house which we could use."

Walter smiled. "I place myself in the hands of the wise and far-seeing Chang Wu."

"It would be a way of wisdom to repair there at once."

In the house that night as soon as Father Theodore, who was to be accommodated elsewhere in the house, had risen and taken his departure, Walter told his host about Maryam and Tristram and explained the circumstances which had led to the separation.

A few days later Chang Wu called for Walter early. It promised to be a hot day, and the envoy had clothed himself in cool black linen with plain shoes of black felt.

"The presence in the city of my scholarly companion has come to the ears of Her Royal Splendor, the Dowager Empress," he said. "It has been commanded that he be taken to see her this afternoon so that she can hear what he has to say with her own ears. Perhaps this will be important first step to acceptance of peace terms." Then he smiled and touched Walter on the shoulder with his fan. "That is not all. Lu Chung has been found. He is now in the house of the nearest magistrate, waiting to be questioned. We shall go there at once."

They saw Lu Chung as soon as they arrived at the magistrate's house, which also served as a chamber of justice. He was being led through a lower hall, and he was stripped to the waist, with small flags attached to his ears as a sign that he was under suspicion of grave misdemeanors.

Lu Chung's distress mounted when they reached the chamber of justice.

Chang Wu joined the magistrate on the bench and, with that official's consent, began to question the prisoner. At the finish of the interrogation, Lu Chung was taken back to his cell and the envoy returned to his place beside Walter.

"It is good," he said, "but also it is bad. Your friend, called by the prisoner the Tall One, was carried off by bandits one morning near a town on the Wei-ho River. Lu Chung had gone to the town with the lady, and they learned of the regrettable occurrence when on the point of returning to the place where the yurt had been pitched. Since then he has heard nothing more of the Tall One."

gas furnaces NOW

Call your heating contractor or dealer today . . . For the sake of efficiency and economy this winter, ask him to check these 12 important points.

1. Examine flue pipe to see that it is adequately supported and free of holes and rust spots.
2. Examine the chimney to see if it is free of soot and rubble.
3. Inspect the interior of the furnace to (a) make sure the burner head is clean (b) make sure the firepot or combustion chamber is free of cracks or open joints.
4. Check the water level on boilers.
5. Inspect filters in forced air systems. Clogged filters are the greatest single source of high gas bills and insufficient heat. Remove all filters from hot air registers. Steel wool or cheesecloth filters should never be used in registers . . . they prevent free circulation of air and waste a large amount of heat by blocking its flow, thus causing basement and furnace to overheat.
6. Oil all fan and pump motors, control motors, and other moving parts that require oil. Correct lubrication, according to manufacturer's specifications, is important.
7. Inspect the burner and draft controls to make sure they are adjusted for economical operation.
8. Make sure that the safety pilot is adjusted properly and tested. It is one of the most essential controls in safe operation.
9. Check all furnace controls, including automatic gas valve etc. to make sure they function properly.
10. Inspect thermostat to make sure it is not influenced by warm air registers, lamps, etc.
11. Check for leaks that can rust the furnace, and clean off accumulated rust and scale where furnace is equipped with a humidifier.
12. For further gas economy, why not consider insulation, weather-stripping, storm sash and doors, and other conservation practices.

See the Yellow Pages of your phone book for a list of heating contractors and dealers.

New War Agencies to Handle Defense Effort?

Symington in Line for Chief Supervisory Post

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The national capital may soon witness the uncropping of a new series of independent "war" agencies. Insiders say that President Truman's original decision to have old-line government departments handle the defense effort may be abandoned. Some of the administration's planners contend that these units—such as the Labor department, Commerce, Agriculture—simply are not equipped to cope with manpower, production and consumer problems resulting from the expanding defense program.

One of World War II's mistakes will not be repeated, however. If new war agencies are formed to handle specific home-front issues, there will be a top-level unit established close to the President to resolve disputes and supervise the whole operation.

It is a good bet that W. Stuart Symington, present chairman of the National Security Resources board, will get this top post—something like the Office of War Mobilization under Jimmy Byrnes in the last war.

● ADJOURN OR RECESS? The best indications on Capitol Hill are that the 81st Congress will quit before Labor Day for the months of September and October. Although some Democratic leaders are pressing for final adjournment until next January, the consensus is that Congress will take a long recess subject to recall by House and Senate leaders.

Whether Congress will return for a short session in November and December will depend upon the international situation existing then. All legislation taken up this year must be completed by noon

HOW TO CHANGE A LEOPARD'S SPOTS

Can you change the spots on a leopard? The platitude says no. But the spots on that particularly dangerous breed known as "the reckless driver" can be changed.

This thought is prompted by the approaching Labor Day holiday. The record-breaking carnage of the Memorial Day and Fourth of July weekends has been duly recorded by the National Safety Council—but possibly forgotten by too many of us. Will the Labor Day weekend bring another casualty list of 400-odd persons killed in traffic and an uncounted number injured?

Most of us are responsible drivers of reasonable skill and prudence. We don't want to kill anyone—least of all ourselves.

But there are some drivers on the highways—say, one out of ten—who are always potential accident-makers. The speed demons, the arrogant lane-weavers, the drunks, the law-flouters.

Their spots can be changed—by police and court action!

That is the only way to get quick results. Highway engineering, driver training, thorough education—these are desirable and worthwhile objectives. But their promise lies in the future.

Meanwhile, Labor Day is upon us. Concerted and vigorous action by state patrols and city police—backed by quick justice in the traffic courts—can hold deaths to a minimum, as many states demonstrated with a perfect or near-perfect record over the Fourth.

Strict traffic law enforcement is commonly believed by the politicians to be unpopular. This has been proved a fallacy so often by intelligent and courageous public officials that it no longer is worth arguing. There are always a few vocal objectors who apparently feel themselves above the law, but the public generally would welcome some assurance that "death will not take their holiday."

Thus it is the responsibility of all of us to get behind a crackdown on motor madness by police and traffic courts during the Summer's last holiday.

Is it worth a three-cent stamp and five minutes of your time? Then write your mayor and governor. Let them know you want the laws enforced. Tell them you are with them in any all-out effort to put an end to holiday horror. They can do it with your help!

Big way to help is to drive safely yourself.

A minister says the right to judge others is earned only by ruthlessly analyzing one's own shortcomings. By that standard, the qualified judges of humanity could be counted without the aid of adding machines.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Clement M. Hull, writing to the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegram, complains about me on the grounds that I said that to sin publicly is worse than to sin in secret. Hull cannot go along with what seems to be an encouragement to hypocrisy. He says:

"Progressive moralists try to deal with evil by digging it out of its hiding places and looking it square in the eye. This results in such things as campaigns against syphilis, campaigns for better reform schools. Spiritual illness is treated by educators and psychologists much in the same way as psychological disorders are treated by psychiatrists and physical disorders are treated by physicians. Less and less do we try to hush-hush and less and less do we blame and condemn."

In the first two decades of the Twentieth Century, many hoped that frankness might make a better world. We had been reading Ibsen and Shaw, Wells and Brioux; we had read Krafft-Ebing and Havelock Ellis. We had been fed the theology of higher-criticism. Tolstoy, Dostoevsky and Gorky had come into our lives. We knew truth and we understood progress.

Well, take the perspective of 1950. What of progress! Most of the world—all of it from the River Elbe to the Pacific—is altogether without freedom or progress. It has all turned back to a rigid feudalistic enslavement of man.

As I come to think of it, I was in one of the first strikes for academic freedom. It was so long ago. William Howard Taft, President of the United States, had attacked Charles A. Beard, our professor of politics, who had written a small book, "Economic Interpretation of the Constitution." We heard that President Nicholas Murray Butler was going to fire Beard from Columbia. We went on strike for academic freedom.

How fresh was the air we breathed! Mind you, I was brought up in the slums of New York—but we did not, as children, encounter piansies, fairies, homosexuals and our mothers did not worry about the corruption of our sisters by Lesbian school-teachers.

Sure! All things happened that have been happening since Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt, but we grew up with the law of the sidewalk that a liar deserved a punch on the nose and got it; and that a thief landed in jail; that a judge was expected to be straight; that the President of the United States was a gentleman to be emulated, even if it was tough to try to be like him. We were taught to respect our parents, to be ashamed of our wrong-doing, to confess when caught and to cry and ask for forgiveness.

My mother lived to be well past 80 and she never understood my way of life, which was very different from hers. But I never lied to her—not once. It was just something that could not be done.

March of Events
New War Agencies to Handle Defense Effort? Symington in Line for Chief Supervisory Post.

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON—The national capital may soon witness the outcropping of a new series of independent "war" agencies. Insiders say that President Truman's original decision to have old-line government departments handle the defense effort may be abandoned.

Some of the administration's planners contend that these units—such as the Labor department, Commerce, Agriculture—simply are not equipped to cope with manpower, production and consumer problems resulting from the expanding defense program.

One of World War II's mistakes will not be repeated, however. If new war agencies are formed to handle specific home-front issues, there will be a top-level unit established close to the President to resolve disputes and supervise the whole operation.

It is a good bet that W. Stuart Symington, present chairman of the National Security Resources board, will get this top post—something like the Office of War Mobilization under Jimmy Byrnes in the last war.

ADJOURN OR RECESS? The best indications on Capitol Hill are that the 81st Congress will quit before Labor Day for the months of September and October. Although some Democratic leaders are pressing for final adjournment until next January, the consensus is that Congress will take a long recess subject to recall by House and Senate leaders.

Whether Congress will return for a short session in November and December will depend upon the international situation existing then. All legislation taken up this year must be completed by noon of next Jan. 3. Otherwise it must be considered anew by the 82nd Congress.

CONTROLS NOW?—Despite turmoil and see-saw action, Congress is virtually certain to give President Truman a free hand to roll back and freeze prices and wages when he feels that the inflationary situation justifies it.

There is also a strong possibility that pressure from Congress will force the President to put price and wage controls into effect if the cost of living rises very much above the present level.

Congress is highly sensitive to the strong public reaction against price increases which have occurred since the Korean war started and against the mad panic of hoarding that has stripped retail store shelves.

NO UNIVERSAL SERVICE?—The government's secret plan for all-out mobilization does not contemplate universal service such as was enforced by Great Britain in World War II.

Britain, desperate in the face of threatened invasion, passed a law enabling the government to dictate the duties of every citizen within certain age limits. There was much demand for similar legislation in the United States but it was never realized.

Mobilizer W. Stuart Symington has had the matter carefully studied and found that the American effort in World War II actually outstripped that of the British. Therefore, he will not recommend a universal service law when and if all-out mobilization becomes necessary.

MCCARTHY PROBE DIES OUT?—It is doubtful if you'll hear much more about Senator Joseph McCarthy's charges of Communism in the State department for some time.

With the Korean conflict demanding the attention of Congress, both Democrats and Republicans feel that the investigation touched off by the Wisconsin Republican should be set aside for the time being.

Korean War

Overshadows

Investigation

McCarthy himself has not pushed his case very hard during the past few weeks because Congress has been embroiled in work on defense and economic control measures needed to meet the Korean situation.

However, McCarthy's case and GOP charges that the Tydings subcommittee attempted to "whitewash" the matter are sure to pop up in this autumn's elections.

Back-To-School Dance Arrangements Are Made At Youth Canteen Parley

Bill Stout Quits As President

Youth Canteen members planned a back-to-school dance Wednesday night at their first business meeting since June.

The dance will be a "hard times" affair sponsored by the Canteen and open to the public. The date was set as Sept. 9 from 9 p. m. to midnight.

Providing the music will be a local orchestra, "The Starlighters."

Bill Stout opened the meeting. He tendered his resignation as president of the canteen after explaining that his many school activities would keep him from "doing justice to the office."

Jacqueline Smith, first vice-president, automatically assumed the top office.

Committees named to plan and arrange the dance were decorating, advertising, ticket and food.

David Parks heads the decorating committee. He will have as his assistants, Betty Lou Helwagen, Nancy Held, Paty Cain, Donna Wellington and Ronald Seall.

Gordon Blake was named as chairman of ticket committee. Three canteeners working with him will be Kenny Crawford, Jody Storts and Margaret Dressbach.

Jack Weidinger is chairman responsible for advertising. Assisting him will be Jo Ellen Good, Don Davis, and Helen Morgan.

Mrs. Fred Boggs, canteen hostess, and Mrs. Robert Rader are co-chairmen of the food committee.

Two Birthday Anniversaries Are Celebrated

The birthday anniversaries of Ross Strickler and William E. Strehle were celebrated when Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Strickler of Amanda Route 2 entertained at basket dinner Sunday on the lawn of their home.

Afternoon entertainment which followed the picnic served on tables set up in the yard included croquet, badminton, and movies and recordings of the Strickler's June wedding.

Attending the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Ross Strickler and son Elbert, Mrs. Mark Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Armstrong, Miss Marilyn Armstrong, Miss Louise Ann Armstrong, Miss Linda Armstrong, Allen Conrad of Amanda, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Pontius of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Back-To-School Dance Arrangements Are Made At Youth Canteen Parley

Bill Stout Quits As President

Youth Canteen members planned a back-to-school dance Wednesday night at their first business meeting since June.

The dance will be a "hard times" affair sponsored by the Canteen and open to the public. The date was set as Sept. 9 from 9 p. m. to midnight.

Providing the music will be a local orchestra, "The Starlighters."

Bill Stout opened the meeting. He tendered his resignation as president of the canteen after explaining that his many school activities would keep him from "doing justice to the office."

Jack Weidinger, first vice-president, automatically assumed the top office.

Committees named to plan and arrange the dance were decorating, advertising, ticket and food.

David Parks heads the decorating committee. He will have as his assistants, Betty Lou Helwegen, Nancy Held, Paty Cain, Donna Wellington and Ronald Seall.

Gordon Blake was named as chairman of ticket committee. Three canteeners working with him will be Kenny Crawford, Jody Storts and Margaret Dressbach.

Jack Weidinger is chairman responsible for advertising. Assisting him will be Jo Ellen Good, Don Davis, and Helen Mogan.

Mrs. Fred Boggs, canteen hostess, and Mrs. Robert Rader are co-chairmen of the food committee.

Local Sorority Holds Founders' Day Banquet

Local chapter of Sigma Phi Gamma sorority held its annual founders' day banquet Tuesday evening in the Fox Farm near Chillicothe.

Sorority members were seated at one long table centered with garden flowers and lighted by tapers.

Mrs. Gene Barthelmas served as toastmistress.

Mrs. John Goodchild and Miss Barbara Caskey presented two vocal selections, "Candle Light Songs" and "Sigma Phi Gamma Girl."

Mrs. Hobert White gave a short history of the founding of the sorority, at present one of the largest non-academic sororities in existence.

According to Mrs. White the sorority was founded Aug. 29, 1920. First initiation took place June 27, 1921, and the first annual founders' day banquet Aug. 27, 1921. When a group of girls from Huntington, Ind., applied for admission, it became a national sorority. In 1929, when Canadian chapters sought admission, the sorority became international.

Mrs. White said that at present there were more than 158 chapters functioning within the organization.

Others present at the banquet were Mrs. George Helwegen, Mrs. Edward Ebert Jr., Mrs. James Callihan, Mrs. William

Walnut Set To Reopen Its Schools

Faculty List Is Detailed

Walnut Township school is ready to open its doors for the 1950-51 school year at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Superintendent Alfred Axe reports that a complete staff of teachers has been hired for the coming year and that the school has received minor decorations.

Axe said that new playground equipment has been set up for the youngsters and that venetian blinds have been hung in the rooms. In addition, a parking lot has been graded on the school grounds.

Teachers employed for the coming school year, in addition to the superintendent, are: Mrs. Kathleen Cooper, grade one; Mrs. Eloise Hoover, grade two; Elsie Updyke, grade three; Mrs. Mabel Fisher, grade four; Mrs. Ruby Alsbaugh, grade five; Donald Rose, grade six; Mrs. Nancy Morris, grade seven; Mrs. Virginia Courtright, eighth grade; John Wright, freshmen; Helen Irwin, sophomores; Mrs. Avis Dresbach, juniors; Nelle Oesterle, seniors; Harry Lamb, coach and physical education; Marie Anderson, music; and David Klamfoth, vocational agriculture.

DORIS SPANGLER has been employed as secretary in the superintendent's office, while Chester Frazier and Frank Carpenter have been hired as janitors.

Cooks in the Walnut cafeteria will be Gladys Hines, Mrs. Nada Dresbach and Charlene Dresbach. Joseph Peters will be veterans' agriculture instructor.

Bus drivers employed for the year are Grant Brown, George Lawless, Ernest Barr, Harry Lamb, Albert Friend, John Barr, Howard Ett, James Pontius and Joseph Peters.

Walnut youngsters will be dis-

Church Needing Reforming, Says GOP Minister

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31 — Sen. Robert A. Taft and Guy George Gabrielson, chairman of the Republican National Committee, will address the concluding session of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs here tonight.

The 1,400 delegates and guests will also hear Senators Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota and William F. Knowland of California discuss war issues in an afternoon meeting.

The Rev. William H. Alexander of Oklahoma City told the delegates last night that the church must be reformed if it is to lead the world down the path to peace.

"I believe the church is the one institution that can mobilize the spiritual power necessary to build the world of tomorrow," said the pastor of Oklahoma City's First Christian church.

Rev. Mr. Alexander, also a

Republican nominee for the United States Senate, said, however, that the church must be reformed "in order to make its spiritual values real for the man in the street."

"The church is putting too much primary emphasis upon other-world ideology," he pointed out.

The new nation of Pakistan is the sixth largest in the world. It has 70 million population.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Harding College

Seven hundred and thirty-eight years ago a shepherd boy with bobbed blond hair and blue eyes that glittered like the stars came out of the Morvan mountains of central France and began to circulate an exciting tale.

He'd experienced a vision, he said: Christ had chosen him to lead a crusade of children into the Holy Land across the sea.

He walked among boys and girls who were growing up in a France of bloody strife and confusion. He spoke of wonderful things, made glowing promises that set fires burning in their young hearts. He did not hesitate to call himself a savior.

The boy was named Stephen. He was 12. He had a sweet face and both his words and the timbre of his voice charmed his young listeners. They called him Stephen of the Golden Voice. Children in twos and threes began to follow him as he made his way toward the south of France.

His following grew and when the excited band began to hold meetings through the countryside desperate parents locked their children in. Even the King gravely warned against the boy and his hypnotic presence.

Sober-minded fathers tried to reason with their smitten sons. However noble might be Stephen's motive, they said, the hard bits of life were inescapable: children could not do battle with the barbaric hordes that had held the Holy Land for a century; they couldn't conjure food from thin air as they marched; young mortals could not walk upon the waves of the Mediterranean; and, as for Stephen's glittering promises, the boy hadn't yet demonstrated the power to perform miracles.

Other parents claimed to have found a clerk who confessed to manufacturing Stephen's "vision" as part of a plot.

But the shepherd boy only redoubled his exhortation to the children. And his following continued to mass. Turning deaf ears to heartbroken mothers, young boys and some few girls broke away from their homes.

Soon there were 20,000 children, mostly boys in their early teens, tramping south behind Stephen toward the rugged mountains rising up from the Mediterranean.

Worked into the wool blouse across the young leader's chest was a cross. And each child marching in the unbroken ranks behind him bore a crudely fashioned little wooden cross.

THE CHILDREN sang as they marched. As this unarmed, unprotected child army moved into the mountains there came flocking to it men of sinister character. The girls were raped and carried off into prostitution. Protesting boys were slain.

In the mountains thousands were hungry; thousands starved. Wild animals and the elements took heavy toll. But the child leader, eyes still glittering, carried on. He now promised his benighted thousands he would perform a miracle and open an earthen pathway through the very heart of the Mediterranean sea over which they would march dry-footed to Jerusalem and the Promised Land.

The real control of the army of children had passed, however, from Stephen's into older, designing hands and he had become their unwitting tool.

These men had evolved a scheme. As the blond shepherd boy led his innocents out of the mountains and down the Rhone valley to the sea, there were awaiting them at Marseilles two shipowners, named William (alias "The Pig") Porcus and Hugo ("The Iron-Hearted") Ferreus.

The men behaved like Christians and when Stephen failed to part the sea with a miracle, they offered their ships to take the children to Palestine for sheer love of God.

Seven shiploads of children, still starry-eyed and trustful, set out from Marseilles and their rainbow's end. Off St. Pierre's Rock near Sardinia a storm wrecked two of the ships and every boy aboard drowned. These drowned ones were the most fortunate—for in time the children on the ships reached a strange, savage land; Egyptians came aboard and bought them all as slaves; and they lived out a short, miserable life in bondage. Not a single boy who left France with Stephen of the Golden Voice ever returned.

The moral: Good motives do not necessarily bring miracles. The application: Those who beckon us to a rosy Utopia where a shepherding government ministers to our everyday cares are baiting a trap that can destroy us all.

75 Waves Take Short Cruise On Honest-To-Goodness Ship

LONG BEACH, Cal., Aug. 31.—Seventy-five tired little Waves are back ashore today after smashing Navy precedent and running the blue jackets ragged.

The Waves boarded the Destroyer USS Uhlmann for a two-day cruise and sent the barnacle crew diving down the hatches. Wave reservists made naval history as they snooped and scammed all over the ship—the first pettycoats to participate in actual sea-going maneuvers.

Occasion was a "training cruise" to Catalina Island, some 20 miles off the Southern California coast. The gals got a look-see of Navy life on a man of war.

And they loved it. Swabbie skirts dished up chow, scrubbed the decks, shot 20-mm anti-aircraft guns and pushed pencils in ship's office.

At first hardened seamen, some of whom had been with the "tin-can" during its rugged days in Task Force 58, were overpowered by the smell of perfume as it battled with aromas of the ever-brewing "joe" and engine-room oil.

BUT SOON THEY were snatching bobbie pins as souvenirs while the femmes collected car-

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Harding College

Seven hundred and thirty-eight years ago a shepherd boy with bobbed blond hair and blue eyes that glittered like the stars came out of the Morvan mountains of central France and began to circulate an exciting tale.

He'd experienced a vision, he said: Christ had chosen him to lead a crusade of children into the Holy Land across the sea.

He walked among boys and girls who were growing up in a France of bloody strife and confusion. He spoke of wonderful things, made glowing promises that set fires burning in their young hearts. He did not hesitate to call himself a savior.

The boy was named Stephen. He was 12. He had a sweet face and both his words and the timbre of his voice charmed his young listeners. They called him Stephen of the Golden Voice. Children in twos and threes began to follow him as he made his way toward the south of France.

HIS FOLLOWING grew and when the excited band began to hold meetings through the countryside desperate parents locked their children in. Even the King gravely warned against the boy and his hypnotic presence.

Sober-minded fathers tried to reason with their smitten sons. However noble might be Stephen's motive, they said, the hard tests of life were inescapable; children could not do battle with the barbaric hordes that had held the Holy Land for a century; they couldn't conjure food from thin air as they marched; young mortals could not walk upon the waves of the Mediterranean; and, as for Stephen's glittering promises, the boy hadn't yet demonstrated the power to perform miracles.

Other parents claimed to have found a clerk who confessed to manufacturing Stephen's "vision" as part of a plot.

But the shepherd boy only redoubled his exhortation to the children. And his following continued to mass. Turning deaf ears to heartbroken mothers, young boys and some few girls broke away from their homes.

Soon there were 20,000 children, mostly boys in their early teens, tramping south behind Stephen toward the rugged mountains rising up from the Mediterranean.

Worked into the wool blouse across the young leader's chest was a cross. And each child marching in the unbroken ranks behind him bore a crudely fashioned little wooden cross.

THE CHILDREN sang as they marched. As this unarmed, unprotected child army moved into the mountains there came flocking to it men of sinister character. The girls were raped and carried off into prostitution. Protesting boys were slain.

In the mountains thousands were hungry; thousands starved. Wild animals and the elements took heavy toll. But the child leader, eyes still glittering, carried on. He now promised his benighted thousands he would perform a miracle and open an earthen pathway through the very heart of the Mediterranean sea over which they would march dry-footed to Jerusalem and the Promised Land.

The real control of the army of children had passed, however, from Stephen's into older, designing hands and he had become their unwitting tool.

These men had evolved a scheme. As the blond shepherd boy led his innocents out of the mountains and down the Rhone valley to the sea, there were awaiting them at Marseilles two shipowners, named William (alias "The Pig") Porcus and Hugo ("The Iron-Hearted") Ferreus.

The men behaved like Christians and when Stephen failed to part the sea with a miracle, they offered their ships to take the children to Palestine "for sheer love of God."

Seven shiploads of children, still starry-eyed and trustful, set out from Marseilles and their rainbow's end. Off St. Pierre's Rock near Sardinia a storm wrecked two of the ships and every boy aboard drowned. These drowned ones were the most fortunate—for in time the children on the ships reached a strange, savage land; Egyptians came aboard and bought them all as slaves; and they lived out a short, miserable life in bondage. Not a single boy who left France with Stephen of the Golden Voice ever returned.

The moral: Good motives do not necessarily bring miracles. The application: Those who beckon us to a rosy Utopia where a shepherding government ministers to our everyday cares are baiting a trap that can destroy us all.

75 Waves Take Short Cruise On Honest-To-Goodness Ship

LONG BEACH, Cal., Aug. 31.—Seventy-five tired little Waves are back ashore today after smashing Navy precedent and running the blue jackets ragged.

The Waves boarded the Destroyer USS Uhlmann for a two-day cruise and sent the barnacle crew diving down the hatches. Wave reservists made naval history as they snooped and scamped all over the ship—the first petticoats to participate in actual sea-going maneuvers.

Occasion was a "training cruise" to Catalina Island, some 20 miles off the Southern California coast. The gals got a look-see-do of Navy life on a man of war.

And they loved it. Swabbie skirts dished up chow, scrubbed the decks, shot 20-mm anti-aircraft guns and pushed pencils in ship's office.

At first hardened seamen, some of whom had been with the "tin-can" during its rugged days in Task Force 58, were overpowered by the smell of perfume as it battled with aromas of the ever-brewing "joe" and engine-room oil.

BUT SOON THEY were snatching bobbie pins as souvenirs while the femmes collected cartridge cases. Gobs popped from portholes and hatches—eyes rolled after the ship-shapes—but no whistles escaped. The crew had been well briefed before the Wave invasion.

A few of the Waves felt the swells and retired to their bunks below deck—former crew quarters outlawed to males by formidable signs of "Waves Only." Lt. Johnette Dispensa, lady medic and chief pill dispenser, hustled about with seasick tablets and headache powders.

When the Uhlmann put in at Long Beach naval terminal, there were several husbands and boyfriends waiting to embrace their lady sailors.

On deck a little Wave, Hope, and her shipboard romance, Loy, fireman's apprentice of the crew, shyly exchanged addresses and lingering looks.

And so the Uhlmann settled back to normal Navy procedure.

Only 6 Claims Filed With BUC Office

Only six claims for unemployment compensation were filed by Pickaway Countians last week, one less than the number filed the week before.

According to a report compiled by the state Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, the number of continued claims filed last week dropped to 55 from the 60 filed the week before.

Throughout the state, however, the number of new claims for unemployment compensation showed an increase, from 5,037 for the week before last to 5,054 for last week.

Continued claims throughout the state, however, dropped from 44,458 for the week before last to 41,179 filed last week.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE

Because I sometimes tote around more than two dollars, and because my house has demonstrated a tendency to get burgled, I have a license to carry a revolver—and sometimes do. But I certainly hope I never get into a spot where I have to use it, because I doubt whether I could hit the back wall of a brewery if I were twenty feet away.

And it isn't because I haven't practiced a-plenty. There's a makeshift pistol range back of my house up at Mt. Kisco, and over the years I guess I've used up enough ammunition to keep a small Balkan war going.

But no matter how carefully I sight and squeeze the baby gun with the short nose, I've never been able to do much more to the bullseye than glare at it. And two will get you twenty that most of the Dead-eye Dicks you read about can't do much better.

The U. S. Army evidently agrees with me about the difficulty in handling this tricky bit of mechanism effectively. Next time you see newsreel closeups of the kids who are doing the fighting in Korea, look closely and you'll see they're armed with rifles—Garands and Browning automatics—but about the only place you'll see a six-gun will be in the holster of a two-star general.

I first learned that expert shooting with a revolver is more bull than bullseye when I moseyed down to Ft. Worth 14 years ago to stage that city's Centennial Exposition.

ONE OF the whoopie-dos I put on, "The Last Frontier," was a wild west show, and the cast included the best hoss hands in the business—Galahads in 10-gallon hats who had won prize money in every rodeo from Pendleton to Madison Square Garden. Naturally, I wanted to include an exhibition of pistol shooting, and as a charter member of the Zane Grey Club I figured that almost any one of my bronco busters could pop a clay pipe out of a girl's mouth at 30 feet.

Well, I figured wrong. There was no one in the cast who could hit the pipe without taking the mouth with it, and I wound up having to import the national pistol champion—a skinny kid from Brooklyn who had learned his marksmanship in a Coney Island shooting gallery.

This ineptness with what Damon Runyon used to call "the equalizer" is even more common among gangsters. Sure, the hoodlums of the '20s pistol-totaled many a citizen, but almost invariably the victim was in a motor car, and the range a couple of inches from the nape of his neck.

Whenever the corps-to-be figured to be more than a few feet away, the killers used sawed-off shotguns with a three-foot spread, or tommyguns which produced a spray like a garden hose.

A few years back, an ex-boot-legger—now vice-president of a national whisky company—told me a story about Al Capone which illustrates my point. It seems Al was tipped off that one of his bodyguards was playing footsie with a rival gang, so he threw a banquet for 200 of his hired help, and after the feed made some complimentary remarks about the double-crosser and asked him to get up on the table and take a bow. As the guest of honor was bowing, the 200 hoodlums reached for their rods and let him have it.

BUT WHEN CAPONE—always the good bookkeeper—counted the bullet holes, he found only twenty in the carcass—180 of the triggermen had missed.

Years ago, I used to haunt the 42nd Street shooting galleries, and got so handy with a .22 rifle that I could knock the dancing celluloid ball off the stream of water five times out of ten. And I was plenty cocky about my

"I've got nothing against Lederer," I said modestly. "Let him live."

"The target will be a tomato can at ten feet," said Ben, "and you and Charlie can take turns with my .22 automatic pistol."

We went out on the lawn and Lederer, sighting carefully, hit the can two out of three times. I didn't even nick it.

Last month while vacationing in Hollywood, I lunched with Hecht and reminded him of the debacle which ended my career as a marksman.

"I might as well have been shooting blanks," I said. "As a matter of fact," grinned Ben, "you were."

William Cook's Debut Pays Off In State Fair

William Cook, well-known Circleville vegetable specialist who continually dominates Pickaway Fair and Pumpkin Show exhibits, made his debut in the Ohio State Fair this week.

And he came home with pockets bulging with cash prizes and ribbons. In fact, Cook took 20 ribbons on his pumpkins and squash alone.

Of the 20, eleven were firsts, five were seconds and four were thirds. Nineteen of the ribbons were awarded for individual specimens. One third-place ribbon was for his pumpkin-squash display.

It was made up of 42 separate varieties. Cook says the whole display, accompanied with sufficient hybrids to make more than 100 different specimens, will be entered in the coming Circleville Pumpkin Show.

Newest Bishop Is Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—The apostolic delegate to the U. S. announced today that Pope Pius XII has appointed Monsignor J. Guilfoyle, official of the archdiocese of San Francisco, as titular bishop of Bulla.

The Most Reverend Amleto Giovanni Cicognani said that he will act as auxiliary to Archbishop John J. Mitty of San Francisco.

School Opening Brings Real Job For Parents

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Parents whose children are starting to school next week have a job cut out for them, according to James L. Hymes Jr., former president of the National Association for Nursery Education.

"Starting a youngster to school does not mean that you do nothing from now on and the teacher does all," declares Dr. Hymes.

"Now you work with the teacher and other parents, cooperatively, to get the children what they need."

Dr. Hymes gives a series of hints on how parents can best meet their new responsibility:

1. Meet your child's teacher before the school year starts . . . The more she knows about your child the more she can help him feel at home.

2. DON'T WORRY if your child is upset when you take him to school on opening day, but don't leave him before he is ready.

3. Give your support to the sound things that your child's school does. You can help it improve.

4. Remember that play is the nursery school's business, and that it is the center of a good kindergarten and first grade too.

5. Don't hurry your child into learning to read. When your child is ready, you will know it and the teacher will know it.

6. Be sure to join your Parent-Teacher Association and help make it into an active organization, promoting the good of the school.

7. Find out if there are not ways in which you can help the teacher in her classroom.

"Working right in the classroom with children may sound like a big order," Dr. Hymes admits.

"But managing a group of children is more than a 9 to 5 job. There are details of organization that you could put your shoulder to."

"There are pictures to be mounted, paints to be mixed, equipment to be repaired, lunch money to be collected. Some groups have more stories because parents volunteer to bring books from the town library and because another parent mends torn books and keeps them in circulation.

"Some children in first grade have blocks simply because their fathers came in after hours and made them. Some classes have rich outdoor space because parents have gone on salvage hunts: a piece of rope and a tire to make an extra swing, a big log that the children can balance on an old strip of garden hose that becomes part of the fire station and the filling station in turn."

"Of course," Dr. Hymes points out, "one person—the teacher—could try to do it all, but the children get far less that way. These are your children. The more you can free the teacher for teaching, the more your youngsters will learn."

LEGAL NOTICE Notice is hereby given that pursuant to a Resolution passed by the County Commissioners of Pickaway County, Ohio, in the matter of vacating a road, situated in Circleville Township, part of the Circleville Commercial Point Road No. 4, and described as follows: Beginning approximately 600 feet North of the Shurm and Dillard spur track, (also being Sta. 6 on new survey) and following old road to point where it meets new road location, being approximately Sta. 56 on the new road location, and also as shown on plat on file in the offices of the County Commissioners and the County Engineer. This section of the old roadway being of no further public benefit as the new section has been opened to traffic.

This Resolution is in compliance with Sec. 6862, G. C. of Ohio and the County Commissioners will view same on Monday, September 18, 1950 at 2:00 P. M., e. t. c. and said County Commissioners will also hold a hearing on same at 2:00 P. M., e. t. c. Monday, September 25th, 1950 at 2:00 P. M., at the Court House in Circleville, Ohio.

By order of the County Commissioners of Pickaway County, Ohio.

ERED FREDTSON Clerk and County Auditor Pickaway County, Ohio

Aug. 31, Sept. 7.

PROBATE COURT NOTICE All interested parties are hereby notified that the following named Administrator has filed his account in the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio:

1. Alva H. Shastene, Administrator of the estate of Emma Alice Shastene, deceased. First and final account.

2. Haldane B. BEHR, Executor of the estate of Dora Hornbeck Woodmansee, deceased. First partial account.

And that said accounts will be for hearing and settlement before this Probate Court on Monday, September 18, 1950, at 9 o'clock a. m. Exceptions to said accounts, if any, must be filed herein on or before September 12, 1950.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Probate Court, this 21st day of August, 1950.

GEORGE D. YOUNG, Probate Judge.

Aug. 31, Sept. 7, 14, 21.

IN THE PROBATE COURT, PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO.

Willis Lockard, Executor of the Estate of LOUISIANA COLLINS, deceased.

vs. GEORGE LOCKARD, et al. Defendants.

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION George Lockard, Anna Dennis, Sherman Lockard, Eddie Dick, Sam Lockard, Harry Stuckert, Harry Stuckert, Georgia Stuckert, Roy Stuckert, Alice Haynes, Charles Hampton, Joseph Howard, Carolyn V. Pollard, and the unknown heirs, legatees, executors and administrators, of Louisiana Collins, deceased, will take notice that Willis Lockard, Executor of the Estate of Louisiana Collins, deceased, on the 4th day of August, 1950, filed his petition in the probate court within and for the County of Pickaway, State of Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay her debts and the charges of administration, and that she, said petitioner, is a creditor of said estate, and is in need of the aid of the court in the liquidation of said estate.

TRIBE DEFEATED TWICE

Dr. Stengel's Magic Dope • Puts Yanks In 1st Place

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Pitching, old pros and Doctor Stengel's magic elixir. Of such things are pennant dreams compounded, and the New York Yankees are dreaming with their eyes wide open today—dreaming from the lofty eminence of first place in the American League.

The Yankees hurled the prostrate forms of the Detroit Tigers yesterday to claim the lead, and now they frankly envision their second straight pennant and world championship.

Stengel, who hasn't forgotten that uncanny knack of getting extra mileage out of his crimples, has said more than once:

"They'll have trouble beating us down if we ever get up there."

They beat the Indians, 4 to 3 and 3 to 0, yesterday and went a full game ahead of the staggering Tigers, who split with the fifth-place Washington Senators.

The Yankees came from the short end of a 3-to-0 score to win the first one on Tommy Henrich's pinch single off Bob Feller with two out in the eighth.

ROOKIE ED FORD and Tom Ferrick teamed up on the pitching end of that one for the Yanks. Ford, off to a rocky start, settled down in good shape but had to leave the game in the seventh after a collision with Cleveland's 240-pound first sacker, Luke Easter.

Then Ferrick, the 1950 version of Joe Page, came on and did so well in the mopping up that he notched his eighth triumph.

Eddie Lopat gained his 15th victory in the second game by whitewashing the Tribe with six hits.

Johnny Mize, subbing at first base for the limping Henrich, forgot his own aches and pains long enough to hoist a telling homerun in each game, his 14th and 15th of the year.

The victories made it three straight for the Yanks over the Indians and eight out of ten for the New Yorkers on their current stand against the western clubs.

Said invasion ends today with a single game between the Yanks and Indians. Desperate Lou Boudreau nominated Bob Lemon (20-7) for pitching chores against either Allie Reynolds (12-11) or Tommy Byrne (13-7) of the Yanks.

Meanwhile, Detroit blew the first game to Washington, 3 to 2, when Sam Dente singled home the winning run off Freddie Hutchinson in the 11th inning. Sandalo Consuegra was the winner.

In the nightcap, the Tigers blew a 7-to-2 lead, fell behind and finally won, 10 to 8, with a three-run rally in the ninth. The Tigers socked 16 hits, but it was scarcely a championship performance against the fifth-place Senators.

NOR WAS THE order for pitching ace Art Houtteman to report for a draft exam calculated to give comfort to the hard-pressed Tigers.

The Boston Red Sox looked like a greater threat to the Yankees, but they, like the Yanks have yet to make their final western swing, during which both the Tigers and Indians will be at home.

The Red Sox took undisputed possession of third place yesterday by drubbing the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 1, while the Indians were taking their double defeat.

Joe Dobson, recording his 14th success, had a shutout until the eighth as the Bostonians racked up their 15th win in 16 starts. Over the same span, the Yanks have won 14 out of 18, the Indians nine out of 16, and the Tigers ten out of 18.

The St. Louis Browns beat Philadelphia twice, 12 to 1 and 7 to 6. The nightcap went ten innings.

In the National League, the Philadelphia Phillies boosted their lead to six and one-half games. They toppled the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 8, in a grim struggle in which they had to come from behind twice. The winning pitcher: Jim Konstanty, of course.

The second-place Brooklyn Dodgers lost to the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 5, as the Cubs scored four runs in the seventh. Vern Bickford coasted to his 17th win as the Boston Braves downed Cincinnati, 9 to 4.

Sal Maglie of the New York Giants shut out Pittsburgh, 4 to 0, to run his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 20. It was his 13th victory and eighth in a row.

Men's, Women's Bowling Leagues Begin 1950 Season Here Sept. 11

Circleville's 1950 bowling league season is expected to begin in earnest here Sept. 11.

Final plans for the season were laid out for a two-section men's league and a women's league Tuesday and Wednesday in Moose Alleys.

Five more teams are needed to round out the Monday League section of the men's loop, while the other men's section and the women's division have been filled and are ready to operate.

New officers for the women's league elected during the session were Marge Olney, president; Lee Etta Young, vice-president; and Tillie Smith, secretary.

Ten teams have been entered to date in the women's loop, and the league will open Sept. 12.

MANLEY SMITH has been elected president of the men's league, while Roy Beatty has been named vice-president and Bruce McKinney has been elected secretary.

The Monday section of the league has only five teams signed up to date, is looking for another five teams to round out the loop.

Monday teams entered so far are Top Hat, Hanleys, Yates Buick, Elsea's Airport and Purina. The Monday loop will open the season Sept. 11.

Wednesday's league in the men's division contains a dozen teams, most of them the same which participated last season.

Teams entered in the Wednesday league are Kiwanis, Elks, Fords, Isalys, Blue Ribbons, Hardens, Ankroms, Boosters, Reids, Post-office, Circleville Herald and Basics. The Wednesday division will begin Sept. 13.

Pete Noble, manager of the Moose lanes, said that Circleville Container Corp. and General Electric are attempting to merge into a single league for later in the week this season.

The local alleyways will be opened next Tuesday.

Joe Louis Nice In Talk About Ez Charles

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Joe Louis appears to rate Ezzard Charles, his forthcoming heavy-weight title foe, someplace between Abe Simon and Harry Thomas on the list of guys who have gone to bat against the Brown Bomber.

Joe was being strictly nice in talking up Charles as a worthy opponent yesterday, but his heart wasn't in it.

Could Charles hit as hard as Schmeling?

"No," said Louis.

Could he box as well as Conn?

"No."

Would he be harder to hit than Walcott?

"No."

Can he take a punch?

"I don't know," Joe confessed.

I've seen Charles against Walcott, Lesnevich and Valentino and I haven't seen a decent punch thrown at him yet."

Somebody wanted to know if he would see a decent punch thrown the night he fights Charles for the title—Sept. 27 in Yankee Stadium.

Louis yawned. "Unless I close my eyes," he said.

Somebody asked weakly: "Would you, by any chance, call Charles the toughest man you ever had to fight?"

The deadpan Louis nearly went through his chair. Then he recovered.

"Best I ever met," he said solemnly. "At my age."

Joe is 36, but he feels and looks better than at any time since the war. His weight right now is a well-distributed 218—just two pounds over what he wants to hit the night he opposes Charles.

Men's, Women's Bowling Leagues Begin 1950 Season Here Sept. 11

Circleville's 1950 bowling league season is expected to begin in earnest here Sept. 11.

Final plans for the season were laid out for a two-section men's league and a women's league Tuesday and Wednesday in Moose Alleys.

Five more teams are needed to round out the Monday League section of the men's loop, while the other men's section and the women's division have been filled and are ready to operate.

New officers for the women's league elected during the session were Marge Olney, president; Lee Etta Young, vice-president; and Tillie Smith, secretary.

Ten teams have been entered to date in the women's loop, and the league will open Sept. 12.

MANLEY SMITH has been elected president of the men's league, while Roy Beatty has been named vice-president and Bruce McKinney has been elected secretary.

The Monday section of the league has only five teams signed up to date, is looking for another five teams to round out the loop.

Monday teams entered so far are Top Hat, Hanleys, Yates Buick, Elsie's Airport and Purina. The Monday loop will open the season Sept. 11.

Wednesday's league in the men's division contains a dozen teams, most of them the same which participated last season. Teams entered in the Wednesday league are Kiwanis, Elks, Fords, Isalys, Blue Ribbons, Hardens, Ankroms, Boosters, Reids, Post-office, Circleville Herald and Basics. The Wednesday division will begin Sept. 13.

Pete Noble, manager of the Moose lanes, said that Circleville Container Corp. and General Electric are attempting to merge into a single league for later in the week this season.

The local alleyways will be opened next Tuesday.

Can he take a punch?

"I don't know," Joe confessed. "I've seen Charles against Walcott, Lesnevich and Valentino and I haven't seen a decent punch thrown at him yet."

Somebody wanted to know if he would see a decent punch thrown the night he fights Charles for the title—Sept. 27 in Yankee Stadium.

Louis yawned. "Unless I close my eyes," he said.

Somebody asked weakly: "Would you, by any chance, call Charles the toughest man you ever had to fight?"

The deadpan Louis nearly went through his chair. Then he recovered.

"Best I ever met," he said solemnly. "At my age."

Joe is 36, but he feels and looks better than at any time since the war. His weight right now is a well-distributed 218—just two pounds over what he wants to hit the night he opposes Charles.

Tops Lusty Song

DUQUOIN, Ill., Aug. 31—Star's Pride squared accounts with Hambletonian Winner Lusty Song yesterday by winning the champion stallion trot at the Grand Circuit races in Duquoin.

Harry Pownall drove Star's Pride, who was runnerup in the Hambletonian, to first place in the second and third heats of the event. Lusty Song finished second in all heats.

Dudley Hanover took the champion stallion 3-year-old pace in a close three-heat battle with Quilla Hanover.

Richest prize of the meet—$16,199.31—went to Scotch Rhythm, who won the Castleton Farms' 2-year-old trot. The winner was driven by Ralph Baldwin.

County School Health Inspection Booked For Wednesday

Buildings, Pupils Both To Be Eyed

Blackburn, Nurse Set Up Schedule

Pickaway County schools are to receive their annual health inspection beginning next week.

Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner and Mrs. Helen Pickens, county health nurse, will begin the annual inspection trip Wednesday in the county school system.

Dr. Blackburn said this year's examination will be conducted in three phases, and that he and Mrs. Pickens should be able to examine four schools per day when the program gets underway.

"Our first trip will be used to inspect the school itself and for inspection of skin diseases among the children," the doctor said.

At the same time, we will hand out question blanks for the first graders to have their parents to fill out, giving us a permanent health record for our files on tonsils, communicable diseases and so forth.

"IN ADDITION, we will leave a card with each first grader requesting permission from his parents for diphtheria immunizations. The parents must give consent before we can treat the youngsters."

The doctor said that he and Mrs. Pickens also will attempt to make out a health and immunity chart for all youngsters in grades one to six during the first trip.

"We'll keep one of the charts and the teachers will receive a copy," the doctor explained. "That will permit both the teachers and ourselves to have the information readily available."

The doctor and health nurse are to devote their entire time on the second trip to the schools in the immunization program.

"We'll immunize every youngster whose parents give us approval," stressed the commissioner.

The final trip in the program will be a complete physical examination for all new first graders in the county system and for all newcomers into the system.

In addition, all youngsters who plan to participate in athletics during the year will be examined during the final trip.

Lamb Receipts Drop Sharply In Sale Here

A sharp drop in sheep and lamb receipts this week brought total volume down in Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association auctions.

An association report shows an increase in volume for cattle, hogs and calves. A slight betterment in prices was noted in cattle and calf sales. Hog prices showed minor decreases.

A total of 1,185 animals were auctioned Wednesday, a drop of 18 from the 1,167 marketed last week.

The decrease in total volume resulted from a drop of 303 head in sheep and lamb receipts, from 543 sold last week to 240 put on the block Wednesday.

Cattle receipts jumped from the 158 marketed last week to 278 sold Wednesday, while hog receipts increased from last week's 400 head sold to Wednesday's sale of 600 head.

Calf receipts were up one head from last week's score, from 66 to 67.

Water Gallery Extension Job Gets Started

Construction of a water gallery extension to increase Circleville water supply has been started.

Water Department Manager Ervin Leist said the gallery is being built on the west side of Scioto River by a Columbus construction firm.

Completion date has been set at 90 days from receipt of all material necessary to construct the gallery.

The new gallery will be 400 feet long, constructed of 36-inch concrete tile laid with open joints to permit water to seep through.

Leist said the water department is now in the process of assigning new water and sewage account numbers.

He said the accounts are being placed in proper numerical order so as to include new homes and businesses added to the city since 1946. Work on this has been completed for the south one-third of the city.

Mobile Postal Service Set Up For South Ohio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 31—Come the first of October and history will be made in the Ohio postal service.

Two mail buses to replace trains will be put into service. C. R. Wilking, Columbus district superintendent of the postal transportation system, announced yesterday that buses will make daily runs between Columbus and Portsmouth and between Columbus and Gallipolis.

The buses, the highway counterpart of the railway mail cars, will be complete with traveling mail clerks.

The new service replaces the service formerly supplied by the railway mail service on the Chesapeake and Ohio between Columbus and Pomeroy, the New York Central between Columbus and Charleston, W. Va., and the Baltimore and Ohio between Athens and Portsmouth.

The first buses to be installed in Ohio, the maiden trips of the 35-foot, white buses will carry only postal covers for the thousands of stamp collectors in the United States.

Local mail deliveries within each route will be made on the same trip they are picked up. The buses will connect with the railway mail service.
